THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURG.

Advices from Gen. Grant's Army to Monday.

Terrific and Continuous Bombardment of the City.

Much Damage Believed to be Done.

Capture of Twelve Rebels With 200,000 Percussion Caps.

The Sappers and Miners Busily at Work.

REPORTED MOVEMENTS OF JOE JOHNSTON

A Rumor That He is Going to Memphis.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 5.

Up to midnight no official advices from Vicksburg have been received later than those of the 31st May, but a few additional particulars give rather a more cheerful indication of good results.

Extracts from to-day's Richmond papers, are represented by those who read the telegrams, as containing nothing of special interest from any quarters.

THE VERY LATEST NEWS.

CAIRO, Friday, June 5.

The dispatch-boat Gen. Lyon, from Vicksburgh Monday night, has arrived. Firing was kept up all of Monday. Gen. SHERMAN's troops, on the right wing, could be seen in motion.

When the Lyon left, at midnight, a conflagration was going on in the city. Some supposed our shells had set the buildings on fire, while others conjectured that the rebels were destroying their supplies preparatory to surrendering.

Gen. GRANT's numbers and position would be absolutely impregnable in a few days. Particulars cannot be given, but they are all the most cheering whatever.

The steamers Chevalier and Atlantic, loaded with troops, when near Island No. 63 on Wednesday, were fired on by guerrillas from the Mississippi shore. One Captain and two privates were killed and several wounded.

DISPATCHES FROM THE REAR OF VICKSBURGH.

CHICAGO, Friday, June 5.

A special dispatch from the rear of Vicksburgh, dated May 31, says:

The bombardment of Vicksburgh continues. All the guns in position opened fire at midnight, and continued their fire until daylight. The rapidity of the firing was unparalleled.

It is believed great damage was inflicted by the fire.

Twelve rebels were captured at daylight yesterday, endeavoring to run our pickets and get into the city.

Two hundred thousand percussion caps were found in their possession.

One of the rebels, a boy, came out of the city, ten days ago, took the oath of allegiance, and was allowed to go home, five miles back. He will probably be condemned as a spy.

Gen. JOE JOHNSTON is reported to be moving toward Jackson, but not in force sufficient to attack us.

Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.

WALNUT HILLS, TENNESSEE, VIA CHICKASAW BAYOU, THURSDAY, May 28. VIA CAIRO, Wednesday, June 3.

Deserters from all parts of the rebellious state the garrison of Vicksburgh at from 20,000 to 25,000 strong; that the trenches and forts are not relieved day or night, and that they are now living on quarter rations of corn bread and boiled fresh beef. Their reserve is only one brigade and a half. The majority of the troops are willing to surrender the city. Our shells are destroying the buildings, and the inhabitants live in caves to escape death.

Gen. PEMBERTON sent some families, with their negroes, into our lines yesterday, but Gen. GRANT sent the former back and kept the negroes to work for us.

The guerrillas have made raids at and above Lake Providence, and run off a number of negroes.

Our sappers and miners are progressing successfully with their work of gradual approach, and in some places have reached within a few yards of the rebel works. The rebel sharpshooters do not dare to fire, nor the men in the rifle-pits to show their heads above the works.

Our loss in killed and wounded during the siege, which commenced on the 8th, will not exceed 1,500 as 5,000, the first accounts having been greatly exaggerated.

The rebels may have to be starved out, but there need be no fears entertained of the capture of Vicksburgh and its entire garrison.

ANOTHER REPORT ABOUT JOE JOHNSTON.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, June 5.

A special dispatch from Cincinnati to-day to the Bulletin says:

"A report is current here to-day that Gen. Joe Johnston, instead of marching on Gen. GRANT's rear, to relieve Gen. PEMBERTON, is retreating in force on Memphis.

The report comes in various shapes, and is somewhat credited."

THE SINKING OF THE CINCINNATI.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 5.

The following detailed report of the sinking of the gunboat Cincinnati has been received at the Navy Department:

MISSISSIPPI SQUADRON, FLAG-SHIP BLACK HAWK, ABREST VICKSBURGH, May 27.

SIR: In obedience to your order, the Cincinnati got under way this morning at 7 o'clock, and steamed slowly down until a little abreast of where the mortars lay. When we rounded to, the enemy fired several shots from a gun called "Whistling Dick," and soon gave it up. At 8½, with a full head of steam, we stood for the position assigned us. The enemy fired rapidly and from all their batteries. When abreast of our position, and rounding to, a ball entered the magazine, and she commenced sinking rapidly. Shortly after, the starboard tiller was carried away. Before and after this, the enemy fired with great accuracy, hitting us nearly every time. We were repeatedly struck by pieces of shell from the bits, and 6-inch rifled and 10-inch smooth-bore shot did us much damage. The shots went entirely through our protection—hay and wood. And now, finding that the vessel would sink, I ran her up stream as near the right-hand shore as our damaged steering apparatus would permit. About ten minutes before she sank we ran close in, got out one plank and put the wounded ashore. We also got a hawser out to make fast to a tree to hold her until she sank. Unfortunately, the men ashore left the hawser without making it fast. The enemy were still firing, and the boat commenced drifting out. I swam out to the men to swim ashore, thinking we were in deeper water (as was reported) than we really were. I suppose about fifteen were drowned and twenty-five killed and wounded, and one probably taken prisoner. This will sum up our total loss. The boat sank in about three fathoms of water; she lays level, and can easily be raised, but lies within range of the enemy's batteries. The vessel went down with her colors nailed to her mast, or, rather, to the stump of one, all three having been shot away. Our fire, until the magazine was drowned, was good, and I am satisfied did damage. We only fired at a two-gun water battery.

Very respectfully,

GEO. M. BACHE, Lieut. Commanding.

To A. R. Admiral D. D. Porter.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR GEN. GRANT.

Under the "river news" head, in the St. Louis papers of June 3, we find the following interesting items:

Early yesterday morning the Atlanta, with quite a number of sanitary goods aboard, passed down. She also had the Twentieth Iowa, from Paducah.

We hear to-day that the Dean, Snyder and Graham took troops from Columbus.

The St. Louis, down last evening, had sanitary stores aboard from Pittsburgh.

The Meteor called on Government business yesterday, having twelve on board.

The Empress goes this morning on Government account, and it is said she will take on a regiment and a battery.

It is rumored also that the Meteor, Continental, White Cloud, D. G. Taylor, Minnehaha and still others now in port, as well as others out of port, will meet with instant dispatch on urgent Government business.

Government is hauling in or hauling out nearly boats again. The steamers Henry Von Phul, Red, Memphis, Jno. Warner and other boats that were expected to arrive at this port from Memphis, have been detained by the authorities below, for transportation purposes. They will not, therefore, arrive here for some days.

The D. G. Taylor and other boats lying here, we understand, are ordered below.

The Cairo correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes under date of June 1:

"The Cheveron, Perry and Dickey have gone up the Cumberland in Government service. They will likely return to-morrow.

The gunboat Lexington arrived from Cumberland River."

THE CASUALTIES.

From the St. Louis Republican, June 3.

We are inclined to believe, from what we can hear, that the casualties at and immediately preceding the evacuation of Vicksburgh have been greatly magnified on the Federal side. The whole number of killed and wounded will not, we think, exceed a thousand—the missing is a trifling number.

TRIBUTE TO A GALLANT SOLDIER.

Gov. GAMBLE has received the following dispatch from Washington:

WASHINGTON, June 2, 1863.

Gov. H. R. GAMBLE: In answer to your telegram, the President directs me to say that the Government will testify its sense of the gallant conduct of Col. BOSTWICK, by his appointment as Brigadier-General.

(Signed,) EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

GEN. ROSECRANS' DEPARTMENT.

Simultaneous Attacks by the Rebels on Franklin and Triune.

A VICTORY AND A DEFEAT

NASHVILLE, Friday, June 5.

News from Franklin up to 2 o'clock to-day, is that Col. BEATTY, commanding the garrison, was attacked by 1,500 rebel cavalry yesterday, who drove his forces back into their intrenchments. They rallied, however, and repulsed the enemy with heavy loss to the latter.

Simultaneously an attack was made upon the forces at Triune. They were repulsed with a loss of 200 men, 400 horses, and a lot of camp and garrison equipage.

Gen. GRANGER has ordered all houses of ill-fame to be vacated by the 8th inst. There is great excitement among the "fancy."

Six hundred and seventy-nine National soldiers arrived in the city this morning, representing 114 different regiments. They will be sent to their respective commands.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Another Incendiary Fire at Norfolk, &c.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, June 4.

Two large brick buildings on the corner of Washington and Wide Water streets, Norfolk, were destroyed by fire last night. They were used as a Government storehouse. All the property belonging to the Government, except about $2,000 worth, was removed. The fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary.

The flag-of-truce steamer State of Maine, in charge of Capt. JOHN C. MEARNS, left for City Point this morning. She took up 200 rebel prisoners.

The steamship S. R. Spaulding, Capt. HOWES, sailed for Newbern, N. C., this morning.

The steamer City of Hudson arrived from New-York this morning, and has resumed her trips between this place and Norfolk.

Renomination of Hon. Henry Winter Davis for Congress.

BALTIMORE, Friday, June 5.

The Union Convention, to-night, nominated Hon. HENRY WINTER DAVIS as Representative for the Third District. He was serenaded, and made a speech, in which he said he should, if elected, support the entire policy of the Administration. There should, he said, be no side issues. It was time for Maryland to speak out boldly. He supported emancipation, and he was for the rigorous prosecution of the war, and conquering a peace.

Affairs in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Friday, June 5.

Special Agent GALLAGHER, Acting United States Depositary, yesterday received from the Treasurer of the United States, $5,000,000, of which $1,500,000 have been distributed to Maj. ALLEN, Paymaster for our troops in Tennessee.

Considerable quantities of blooded stock and quite a number of visitors are arriving, to participate in the Woodlawn races, which commence here Monday next, and promise to be a brilliant affair.

The National Treasure.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, June 5.

The general subscription agent reports the sale of $1,270,500 five-twenties, distributed as follows: New-York, $370,000; Boston and New-England, $310,000; Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, $265,000; Ohio and Indiana, $225,000; Missouri, Virginia and Kentucky, $18,500. The subscriptions from Indiana include $200,000 from Madison. Local subscriptions throughout the West are very large, almost every village and town being represented.

IMPORTANT FROM WASHINGTON

A Movement of the Rebel Army Under Lee.

Heavy Bodies of Troops Moving Toward Gordonsville.

Camps Deserted and Pickets Doubled.

Fernando Wood in Consultation With the President and Secretary of War.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 5.

The enemy's movement has taken a positively defined shape in the last twenty-four hours. Their columns are in motion in a southwesterly direction, toward Gordonsville. Constant balloon observations yesterday discovered heavy clouds of dust occasioned by the marching of continuous bodies of troops on the Gordonsville Road, as well as a disappearance of many of the camps heretofore in sight, and a doubling of their pickets along the Rappahannock.

FERNANDO WOOD CONSULTING WITH THE PRESIDENT.

FERNANDO WOOD had a long interview to-day with the President and afterwards with the Secretary of War. The hiring of the Lee House on I-street was the morning occasion of Mr. WOOD's appearance here, but, from the reports of the tenor of his conversation, it is reasonably certain that this incurable politician has repeated to-day his customary dodge of coming to Washington immediately after one of his revolutionary or treasonable speeches, and vindicating them by denying the accuracy of the publications, and immediately slandering the reporters. His reputation for doing this is actually established here.

IMPORTANT REVENUE DECISION.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that entries at the Custom-house, either for consumption or warehousing, are subject to stamp duties. The law on this subject is not inconsistent with the Reciprocity treaty, which admits free of duty certain articles, the growth and product of British colonies, into the United States.

In accordance with a recent opinion of the Attorney-General adverse to the former ruling of the Internal Revenue Office, in reference to the assessment and collection of taxes on articles manufactured, delivered to, and accepted by the Government under contracts made prior to July 1, 1862, Assessors are instructed to review and to assess a tax on such articles; but they will require the manufacturers of such articles to make returns of the whole number or quantity manufactured, delivered to, and accepted by the Government, and the returns must be accompanied with the certificate of the proper officer of the Government, that they have been so delivered and accepted, under contracts made prior to July 1, 1862. Collectors must not enforce the collection of taxes which have been already assessed, but not paid, on such articles.

COL. D'UTASSY.

Col. D'UTASSY starts to-morrow for his year's imprisonment at Sing Sing, in the custody of Provost-Marshal TOMB.

THE FRENCH IN MEXICO.

The opinion expressed in diplomatic circles to-night is, that the rumors of the storming of Puebla by the French were not only unfounded, but that the French sustained a repulse, and that CORONADO has reinforced ORTEGA.

COURTS-MARTIAL.

Col. F. F. CAVARS, of the One Hundred and Fourteenth Pennsylvania Volunteers, has been tried by a Court-martial, of which Brig-Gen. J. H. H. WARD was President, upon a charge of "misbehavior before the enemy." In absenting himself from his command and seeking shelter in the rear during the first battle of Fredericksburgh. Having been found guilty, he was sentenced "to forfeit all pay and allowances that are or may become due him and to be cashiered." Upon the recommendation of Gen. HOOKER, the sentence was remitted by the President.

A Court, of which Col. J. A. SCOTT, Thirty-fourth regiment New-York Volunteers, was President, found Sergeant MICHAEL MCKEW, Company D, Eighty-second New-York Volunteers, guilty of "disorderly and unsoldierly conduct," and sentenced him to be shot to death. The President commuted the sentence to imprisonment for one year in Fort Delaware.

Corp. W. J. FLYNN, First battalion, 17th U. S. I., for drunkenness on duty and "breaking his arrest," was sentenced to be shot to death. Commuted by the President to imprisonment for one year. The prisoner will be sent to Fort Delaware.

Second Lieut. J. A. W. JONES, Company L, First regiment Minnesota Vols., for conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, was sentenced to be dismissed the United States service. Approved.

Private JAS. DOLAN, Company G, One Hundred and Fifth New-York State Vols., for "drunkenness while on duty," "disorderly conduct" and "using abusive language toward his commanding officer," was sentenced to be shot. Commuted to imprisonment for six months, at hard labor, with loss of pay. The prisoner will be sent to Fort Delaware.

First Lieut. LEWIS BURDICK, for being absent without leave, was sentenced to be dismissed the service. Commuted to forfeiture of pay for two months.

Capt. JOHN M. MOTT, Sixteenth Michigan Volunteers, for overstaying his leave of absence, was sentenced to be dismissed the service. Mitigated to forfeiture of pay for two months.

Private MICHAEL FITZGERALD, Company B, Twenty-fourth New-York Volunteers, for disorderly and riotous conduct, disobedience of orders, and "using disrespectful and threatening language, and threatening to strike his superior officer," was sentenced to be shot. Commuted to imprisonment for one year. The prisoner will be sent to Fort Delaware.

WHO HAVE BEEN EXCHANGED.

Among the prisoners of war exchanged, have been—

1. All officers, naval and military, delivered at City Point up to May 30, 1863.

2. The officers and crew of the Indianola, Harriet Lane, Meredita, Queen of the West, Hatteras, Columbia, Isaac Smith, and schooner Fanny.

3. The officers and privates captured and paroled at Holly Springs in December, 1862.

4. Officers and men of the Seventy-first Indiana, taken at Muldraugh's Hill, Ky., in December, 1862.

5. Officers and privates Ninety-first Illinois, captured at Recon Creek and Nolin, Ky., Dec. 28, 1862, and Mole-nugle's Hill, Dec. 22.

6. Those captured at Mount Sterling, Ky., in March, 1863.

7. Those captured of the Fifty-first Indiana, Seventy-first Indiana, Third Ohio, Eighteen Illinois and First Tennessee cavalry, at Cedar Bluffs, Ga., in May, 1863.

8. All expressly exchanged and especially notified of their exchange.

THE NASSAU CONSULATE.

SAM C. HAYNET is on his way home from the Consulate at Nassau, on a leave of absence, and in excellent health.

THE PERUVIAN CLAIMS.

Mr. SYMS, of Illinois, to whom the appointment of Commissioner to settle Peruvian Claims was tendered, has declined it. Whoever is the new appointee must sail before the 15th inst.

LINCOLN.

The Medical Department acknowledges the receipt of a hundred boxes of lemons, from persons in New-York, for the use of the sick and wounded in the hospitals here and in the army at Falmouth.

DISBURSEMENT TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 5.

SUTLERS AND THE INTERNAL REVENUE LAW.

A recent order issued from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, provides that all sutlers or persons engaged in traffic within the limits of the army and liable to the provisions of the Internal Revenue law, must, within ten days from the 3d instant, exhibit to the Provost-Marshal-General receipts for the payment of all taxes due from them. In default of which the Provost-Marshal-General will seize and sell the property of both delinquents and pay the proceeds into the United States Treasury to satisfy the first claims of the Government.

COL. CHARLESTON WOUNDED.

Among the lists of wounded at Vicksburgh is Col. CHARLESTON, of the One Hundred and Fourteenth Ohio Volunteers. He was a delegate in the late House of Representatives from Nevada, and made the startling exposé of the Mormon outrages. He is very widely known as the Judge in Utah whose efforts to bring the perpetrators of the Mountain Meadow massacre and other revolting atrocities to punishment were thwarted by President BUCHANAN refusing to allow the assistance of United States troops. It is believed the Colonel is not seriously wounded, though no particulars as to the extent of his injuries have been received.

REBELS AT BANKS' FORD.

It is known here that a brigade of rebels encamped opposite Banks' Ford on Monday, where they still remain.

PRINTING IN THE ARMY.

It may not be generally known that all the army orders, circulars, blank forms, envelopes, &c. for the Army of the Potomac are printed at Headquarters, two small portable presses, and sufficiency of type, occupying very small space, being provided for the purpose. A two-horse wagon, when necessary, removes the entire establishment. This department of the Adjutant-General's office is under charge of Lieut. SHEAR, of the late Twenty-third New-York Volunteers, an excellent printer. Five assistants are generally kept busy. Lieut. SHEAR is from St. Lawrence County, New-York.

GEN. BERNAM'S ENGINEER BRIGADE.

The resignation of Col. STEWART, of the Fiftieth New-York Engineers, has been accepted, escape, continued ill health. Lieut.-Col. FARNUM, of the same regiment, will succeed to the command.

Maj. SEARMAN, of the same regiment, has received the commission of Lieutenant-Colonel.

The term of service of a large portion of the Fiftieth New-York Engineers will expire in a few days, their two years' term having expired. Those remaining will preserve the present regimental organization. It is commended by Col. COLBURN.

These two regiments, together with a battalion of United States Engineers, form the Engineers' brigade, under the command of Brig.-Gen. BERNAM.

This brigade has rendered most efficient service during the late nine days' campaign. Having laid, taken up, transported and relaid, five separate bridges over the Rappahannock, at an extreme distance of 20 miles, one from another.

TRANSFERRED.

Among the official changes which have recently been made in the Department of Washington, is the transfer of Capt. FRANK H. BARNES from the Subsistence Department, Alexandria, to the charge of a branch of the Provost-Marshal-General's Office, in Washington.

NAVAL.

Acting Master JESSE TAYLOR has been ordered to the command of the schooner Sophronia; Acting Master S. C. GRAY to the command of the store-ship Courier.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.

JOHN JULIUS, late counsel for the negro boy claimed by a citizen of Maryland, having been indicted for rescuing that fugitive slave from his master, to-day gave security for his appearance when required. JOHN DEAN, the other counsel, similarly indicted, is temporarily absent from Washington.

A Skirmish with Guerrillas Near Fairfax Court-house.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 5.

The following telegram was received here this morning:

FAIRFAX COURT-HOUSE, June 4, 1863.

Lieut.-Col. J. H. Taylor, Chief of Staff, and A. A. G.:

All is quiet along our lines and in front, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. This morning, when the relief passed, our pickets were attacked on Sawyer's road by guerrillas. Col. GRAY at once started, with about 120 men, in pursuit of them, but could find nothing of them in the woods. He then went on to scout the whole country, and when he passed Frying-Pan his rear guard was attacked by about 100 rebels, who were hidden in a thick wood. Col. GRAY turned his column, and charged the rebels, who fled in great haste through the woods. We followed them up to Aldie, and from there returned, and Drainesville. Our entire loss is three wounded, viz.: Lieut. BOYLE, Company A, Second Massachusetts, and two privates, one of Company A, and one of Company C, Second Massachusetts. Lieut. BOYLE is slightly wounded in the head, and is under the care of the surgeon, Dr. ALEXANDER.

The Case of the Chicago Times.

CINCINNATI, Friday, June 5.

In the case of the Chicago Times vs. the military authorities, the counsel asked for and obtained leave to withdraw the bill asking for an injunction, and the case was dismissed.

Another Order from Gen. Burnside.

REPRESSIVE AND DEFENSIVE.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF OHIO, CINCINNATI, O., June 3, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER No. 60.—The General commanding directs that Gen. N. C. MCLEAN, Provost-Marshal General, at once institute an investigation into the cause of all citizens prisoners now confined in this Department, and in all such cases as do not clearly show premeditated disloyalty on the part of the accused, or where a desire is manifested to atone for past faults by future good conduct, the prisoners will be released on taking the oath of allegiance and giving bonds for a strict observance thereof. The General commanding is convinced that a large majority of the men arrested here were misled by dishonest and designing politicians, and he wishes to strike at the sources of the evil, and allow those who have been led astray to return to their loyalty and allegiance. If they have seen the folly and sin of opposing the Government.

The United States, in striving to put down a rebellion unparalleled in history, requires that every man at home or in the field shall cease to be a spectator or a listener in the contest. The necessity demands a decision from all. In responding to this call, the duration of the citizen soldier stands foremost, and his service is the greatest. He gives up all that he does to the military—his home, his freedom of speech and action, the property of gain—and often gives his life. He asks no compensation, but surrenders himself wholly to his country, as represented by the constitutional authorities placed over him.

But while he thus yields up his civic rights so entirely to his country, he is none the less a citizen; he waives them temporarily to give greater efficiency to his efforts, and looks forward to the time when, the authority of the Government restored, he shall again exercise the rights he has patriotically laid down.

While the duties of a citizen are of a more peaceful and less exacting character, he is none the less a soldier, and it becomes him to appreciate the greatness and extremes of the devotion of his brethren in the field, and to remember that he, too, has sacrifices to make; but the country's demand upon him is comparatively but small. The country requires from him no physical sacrifice, no personal hardships, it merely asks that he shall imitate the loyal example of the soldiers in the field, so far as to abate somewhat of that freedom of speech which they give up so entirely. The citizen would be unjust to his soldier, as well as unfaithful to his country, if, while enjoying the comforts of home, he were unwilling to give up a portion of a privilege which the soldier resigns altogether. That freedom of discussion and criticism which is proper in the politician and the journalist in time of peace, becomes rank treason when it hesitates weaken the confidence of the soldier in his officers and his Government. When this insidious treason, striking at the very root of that military power which is for the time being the country's protection, makes its appearance, it is the bounden duty of the commanding General to arrest it, root it out, and crush it. The necessity for arrests will be diminished, and the tendency to factious opposition to the Government, and hurtful criticism of its measures, be removed.

By command of Maj.-Gen. A. E. BURNSIDE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Thursday, June 4.

The Republican politicians are in a flutter in regard to the nominations for State officers. The delegates chosen at the Sacramento primary election to the Republican State Convention, who were supposed to be in favor of Gen. STANDISH for next Governor, have suddenly hedged him and will go for Mr. LOW, the present Collector of the port of San Francisco.

The election for delegates to the Republican Convention in Francis County takes place on the 16th instant.

The Republican State Convention will meet in San Francisco on the 17th of June.

A case was decided to-day in the Police Court here, that the conductor and driver of street cars, in preventing a colored man from riding, were guilty of assault and battery. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

For some years rival companies have sought possession of Farrafone Islands, in the Pacific, 30 miles west of San Francisco, for the purpose of collecting birds' eggs, which are valuable. Squatterism and bloodshed have occasionally ensued. On the 4th inst. a regular battle with firearms occurred. The defenders of the islands (Americans) lost one man killed. The assailants, (Italians,) who are very numerous, had five wounded, some mortally. The ringleaders have been apprehended. Warrants have been issued against the other attacking parties.

Sailed, bark Pamelia Fleed for Callao.

Sad Accident in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, June 5.

FRANCIS M. DREXEL, Sr., of the firm of DREXEL & Co., bankers, was injured, probably fatally, this afternoon. In jumping from the Reading cars, at the corner of Seventeenth and Willow streets, he was caught under the wheels, and had both legs crushed, and one taken entirely off. His extreme age precludes the hope of recovery.

LATER.—The venerable Mr. DREXEL died of his injuries at 10 o'clock this evening.

The Second Massachusetts Cavalry.

BOSTON, Friday, June 5.

A detachment of cavalry, 100 men, left Readville this afternoon for Washington. These recruits were chiefly from California, and filled up the Massachusetts cavalry to the minimum.

Anniversary of the New-England Relief Association.

The First Anniversary of the New-England Relief Association was celebrated last night, at their Rooms in Broadway, near John-street, first with an elegant supper, partaken of by a large company of ladies and gentlemen, and afterward with congratulatory speeches by several gentlemen. On behalf of the Association, Rev. FRANCIS VINTON, D. D., presented Col. FRANK E. HOYT, the Superintendent of the Institution, with a beautifully engrossed and framed series of resolutions, expressive of their indebtedness to him for the success of the enterprise. In the course of his remarks Dr. VINTON stated that over 10,000 soldiers had been given medical and surgical attendance, food, shelter, and in many cases clothing, by the Association, and that a complete directory to the military inmates of the other hospitals in and about the City had been kept for the benefit of friends of soldiers desiring to know their whereabouts. An elegant sword was also presented to Col. HOYT by the employees and others actively engaged in the establishment. The Colonel responded in the happiest manner, giving a large share of the credit for the success of the enterprise to the ladies and gentlemen who had given gratuitous volunteer service; to the efficient and skillful surgeon in charge, Dr. EVERETT MEDICOS, to the matron and others. The evening passed off very pleasantly. Rev. Dr. BARROWS and others making eloquent speeches.

The Sumner Court of Inquiry.

The reporters of the leading journals attended yesterday at the Sumner Court of Inquiry, for the purpose of laying before the public the particulars of this important case, especially as it was known that in the defence a professional review of the attack on Charleston would be offered. Admiral DAHLGREN refuses to allow current reports of the case, which, of course, precludes the possibility of publishing the charge of the Court, on the most trivial points of the proceedings, after the final adjournment, would occupy several columns. As it is, the Court have seems to be no justification for Admiral DAHLGREN's course.

GEN. SHERMAN SEVERELY WOUNDED.

Distinguished Bravery of a Louisiana Colored Regiment.

The steamer Morning Star, A. D. PERKINS, Commander, left New-Orleans at 8½ A. M. on the 29th ult., and arrived off Havana at 6½ P. M. on the 31st inst. Left Havana June 1, at 3½ P. M., and arrived at this Port at an early hour this morning, having encountered heavy weather off Hatteras.

In the Department of the Gulf, the whole interest in military affairs centered in Port Hudson, which was completely invested by the Government forces. Gen. BANKS commanded in person a force supposed (to be confirmed for its reduction. The enemy's strength within their defences is estimated at from ten to twelve thousand. Fighting was still in progress at the date of the departure of the Morning Star.

Brig.-Gen. SHERMAN had arrived at New-Orleans on the night of the 25th, severely wounded, but not dangerously.

Col. DAVIES, Second Louisiana negro regiment, distinguished itself generally in charging upon the enemy's siege guns, losing in killed and wounded over 600. Gen. WEITZEL had captured a portion of the line of defence and had one of their heaviest batteries.

The following is from the Era, of the 29th:

"All eyes in this Department are now turned toward Port Hudson. Our information from that point is not very full; but we are in possession of enough to assure our readers that there is every reason to take a cheerful and hopeful view of events. We have no hesitation in saying that the result of the fighting, thus far, has been decidedly favorable to our arms.

A thousand rumors are flying about the streets but we advise our readers not to heed them; they are, as a rule, utterly untrustworthy. A little patience, and the news will come to light. That the result will be such as to gladden every loyal heart, we have no doubt.

RETURNING REGIMENTS.

The Thirty-Seventh and Thirty-Eighth Regiments New-York Volunteers.

Notwithstanding the extensive preparations made by the military and civic authorities for the reception of the above regiments yesterday afternoon, they did not arrive in time to receive the honors intended for them. If events had favored the carrying out of the programme, it is reasonable to suppose the ovation would have excelled anything of the kind that has thus far taken place in this City. From 12 M. to a late hour in the evening Broadway was thronged with an expectant multitude, anxiously awaiting the arrival of the returning regiments. Hour after hour slipped by, and still the troops did not appear. It was at length announced that the troops would not reach the City till late in the evening, which fact, of course, spoiled the entire arrangement for the reception. The following military bodies marched down Broadway to meet the returning regiments, and escort them through the City:

Brig.-Gen. HAYS and Staff, with Steer of cavalry of Eighth regiment New-York National Guard, commanded by Capt. BROWN.

Regiment of First New-York cavalry, under command of Lieut.-Col. D. O. HUMPHREY.

Military escort composed of the Seventh, Eighth, Twenty-third, Thirty-seventh, Twelfth, Fifty-fifth and Sixty-ninth regiments New-York State National Guard.

First regiment New-York State Volunteers, under command of Maj. BEARDSLEY.

Veteran Scott Life Guard.

Invited officers of other regiments and ex-officers of the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth New-York Volunteers.

The following letter received by Brig.-Gen. HAYS from the Committee on National Affairs, explains the reason of the non-arrival of the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth regiments at the hour designated in the programme published yesterday morning:

OFFICE OF CLERK OF COMMON COUNCIL, No. 8 CITY HALL, NEW-YORK, June 5, 1863.

BRIG.-GEN. HAYS—DEAR SIR: I regret to be compelled to inform you that from information received by me, as Chairman of the Sub-Committee on National Affairs of the Common Council, it will be necessary to forego all intention of receiving the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Regiments New-York Volunteers this day. The programme of the arrangements for the reception, as well as all proceedings thus far taken, had been made by a Committee of military gentlemen, under whose advice and direction the Committee of the Common Council was acted. The error in the time of the arrival of the regiments, and the difficulties in which we are now in such error, are to be attributed entirely to the military gentlemen who have undertaken to conduct the ceremonies, as the Committee acted solely under instructions imparted by them, and for which they are entirely responsible.

I would suggest to you the propriety of dismissing your command and wait further instructions from this Committee, who will act hereafter solely upon information received direct from the returning regiments.

The Common Council can assume no responsibility or be responsible for any expenditure not had or incurred in the actual reception of the returning regiments, in which they, as a matter of course, must be the principal participants.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. I. A. BOOLE, Chairman of Sub-Committee.

The expected regiments arrived in Jersey City at 11 o'clock last evening. Upon their arrival at Jersey City they were transferred to transports, where they will remain until 12 o'clock to-day, at which hour they are expected to land at Fort Hill, North River, and proceed to the Park, where they will be met by the Mayor and Common Council, who will make arrangements for their reception to-day. The Thirty-seventh numbers 820 men.

Arrivals in the City.

Delegations from the Select and Lower Chambers of the Philadelphia Common Council arrived at the St. Nicholas Hotel at an early hour yesterday morning. They will leave by the 12 o'clock train this morning for Boston, where they will remain until Wednesday of next week. Their object in visiting that city is for the purpose of witnessing the manner in which the Bostonians conduct their streets, as well as the saving of a sinking fund. Hon. HENRY REAY, President of the Lower Branch; Jos. CHIEF Clerks of both branches; Ch. J. LONGSTRETH, Sergeant-at-Arms in the Select Chamber; David W. Bertolet, Assistant City Solicitor, and five members from each of the branches of the Common Council, constitute the delegations.

Hon. CHAS. E. BUCKALEW, U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania; Hon. R. RIT, of Rochester; H. H. HOPPER, of Philadelphia, and J. W. McCullough, of Clearfield, are also at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Hon. H. B. WRIGHT, of Pennsylvania; Hon. J. K. MCBRIDE, of Oregon; L. D. Caldwell, of Boston, and O. Gilbert, of Philadelphia, are at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Señor Don ARCOCHANA, of Panama; Señor Don A. De La Vega, of Porto Rico; Col. C. H. Thayer, of the Rhode Island cavalry, and Paymaster C. H. Peaslee, of the U. S. Navy, are at the Lafarge House.

Progress of the Enrollment.

Last Saturday night the number of names received in the several districts comprising Col. McNEIL's department, amounted to 30,000, which number will probably be increased to 50,000 by tonight. About 4,000 names are enrolled each day, and it is expected the work will be finished by the 1st of July.

WINTER GARDEN.—Miss CARNARIER HOUSE has her benefit tonight, at the Winter Garden, and plays Juliana for the last time.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE LIFE AND LETTERS OF WASHINGTON IRVING, by his Nephew, PIERRE M. IRVING, Vol. 3, New-York: GEORGE P. PUTNAM.

The new volume of this delightful Biography is embellished with a fine engraving by HALL, of BALL HUGHES' bust of IRVING, executed in 1833; this, though like, is somewhat too much idealized, but conveys a fair impression of the manly and benignant countenance it seeks to represent. According to the originally designed scale of the work the present would have formed the last volume, and it is matter for congratulation that the richness and abundance of the material in the Editor's hands facilities his to extend the Life to four volumes. The portion now before us includes the incidents of fourteen years, from Mr. IRVING's return to the United States after the long sojourn abroad which had allowed a generation to grow up, to whom he was personally strange, in 1832, until his final restoration to his Sunnyside home in 1846, on his retiring from the Spanish Embassy. Thirteen years of happy home life yet remains for the subject of the concluding volume. The period now illustrated was one of considerable literary activity, including the publication of Astoria, Adventures of Capt. Bonneville, Tour on the Prairies and other volumes of The Crayon Miscellany, and the preparations for the Life of Washington, delayed for a time by diplomatic functions, but always kept in view by the writer as the cherished goal of his authorial career. A thousand interesting facts and anecdotes connected with the above works and the literary men of Europe and America, will be found now given for the first time in the correspondence of IRVING with his family and friends, all in the highest degree creditable to him. Amongst others may be mentioned the particulars of the noted sacrifice of time and money that he made when nobly giving up to PROCTOR the subject of The Conquest of Mexico, on which he had long intended to write a work as the pendant to his Columbus. It is needless to enlarge on a book that will be so generally read. A more perfect picture of a literary life, told with the good taste which allows the subject of it to be mainly his own biographer, has never appeared.

—Mr. HENRY DAWSON's new edition of The Federalist progresses at the Cambridge Riverside Press, and will be published in the Fall by SCRIBNER. It will form, with the copious annotations of the editor, two volumes octavo, making one of the handsomest books that has issued from that renowned establishment. As the first critical edition of one of the political classics of the world, to which late events have given additional value, it is certain to meet with a large demand.

THE JUNE MAGAZINES.

—Harper's New Monthly Magazine contains in its present number several articles of great current interest. The opening one on "The Indian Massacres and War of 1862," is the first connected narrative we have had of that thrilling episode of our great national contest. It is from the pen of a new contributor, Lieut. ADAM T. ERSKINE, and also owes its illustrations to his graphic skill. Mr. WATSON's illustrated account of "The Quicksilver Mines of New-Almaden, California," is another hitherto unwritten chapter of American travel and enterprise. "Two weeks at Fort Royal" is a readable article, but evinces a lack of delicacy and of regard for social propriety in certain personal matters which we should scarcely have expected from the member of the firm of HARPER & BROTHERS who is responsible for it. Mr. TROLLOPE's "Small House at Allington" continues to display his unrivaled skill in depicting the average English home life of middle and domestic life, in which he is scarcely inferior to Miss AUSTEN, Miss EDGEWORTH, "Romola" aims at higher mark, and is a noble specimen of the historical novel. The chief original tales are the second part of Miss PRESCOTT's "Rosemary," and Mrs. SOMERBY's "Dagood's Predicament." The customary miscellany of Literary Notices, Editor's Table, &c., completes an unusually attractive number.

—The Atlantic Monthly, Boston, TICKNOR & FIELDS, opens with one of the valuable articles by Dr. LEWIS, "Weak Lungs, and how to make them strong," where physical truths of the highest importance are so pleasantly inculcated that they meet a ready audience where a regular scientific treatise would find no chance of penetrating. "The Mancock House and its Founder," by Mr. ARTHUR GILMAN, is a very interesting memorial of an old landmark about to be removed. The founder, THOMAS HANCOCK, was an eminent bookseller, and his letters to the Mr. THOMAS LONGMAN of that day—a century and a quarter ago—now printed from the original family letter-book, reveal some professional particulars about the book trade of the time, and are a curious memento of the past for the present representatives of that eminent firm. Fiction is strongly supported in this current number of the Atlantic by "Paul Blecker," "The Member from Paxden," and "Why Thomas was Discharged," by GEORGE ALSTON. The poetry of the number is not remarkable; it is contributed by JOHN WEISS and Mrs. PAUL ALSTON. "Ike Marvel's" second scholarly gossip on Old World farming and farm books takes us back to a classical era where the author seems as much at home as among the "Fudge Families" of our own day.

—The Continental Monthly, devoted to literature and national policy, New-York, JOHN F. TROW, maintaining the vigorous tone of comment on the great impending issues of the time for which it is already distinguished. "The Value of the Union," by W. H. MULLER; "The Navy of the United States;" "The Confederation and the Nation," and other articles of sterling value, while fiction, poetry and literature meet with due attention from numerous contributors. Succeeding numbers will contain the letters from Europe of Hon. BOYNTON J. WALKER, the chief editor, now abroad on a Bible mission.

—The American Journal of Science and Arts, for May, is filled with articles of the same high value and interest which its subscribers and readers have so long been in the habit of finding in its pages. The leading articles are from the pen of the botanist, DAWSON, who writes of the "Flora of the Devonian Period in Northeastern America." The nature and advantages of the Globe Lens for the Photographic Camera, are discussed by CORNELIS SCHLEY; A. C. RAMSEY, F. R. S., President of the Geological Society, communicates an interesting paper on the "Glacial Origin of Certain Lakes in Switzerland and adjacent parts of Europe;" H. J. CLARKE writes on "Isomerism;" Prof. BACHE sums up the results of a "Magnetic Survey of Pennsylvania;" Prof. SILLIMAN continues his "Notes of geological tourning in the Coal Formations of North America;" Prof. JAMES HALL makes observations upon some of the "Brachiopoda," and Capt. F. H. HUNT communicates some very interesting notes of his protracted residence at Key West, in the service of the Government. The general summary gathers up all the shreds of scientific intelligence, bringing the record down to the date of the issue of the journal.

LAW REPORTS.

Landlord and Tenant—Attornment—Foreclosure.

SEVENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT.

Before Justice Yancey.

Anna D. Anthony vs. Theodore Stern.—Summary proceedings were resorted to in this matter to dispossess the defendant from a dwelling-house for holding over after his term had expired. The plaintiff rented the house to the defendant for part of last year, which expired on the 1st of May, when he desired a renewal of the lease, which was refused. The defendant then took a lease from one Van Benschoten, grantee of a Mr. Fountain, who claimed to have purchased the premises, (valued at $10,000,) under foreclosure, for $15—arising out of the following proceedings:

There was a small mortgage on the building, which became due, and for which a bill was filed to foreclose; the plaintiff, who was in possession of the premises, paid the mortgage and interest, and recorded his satisfaction piece, and had her name stricken from the bill, and lis pendens; as her land was discharged by the payment of the amount due, she gave the matter but little further attention. After, the foreclosing party proceeded to a decree against the bondman for his costs, for which the property of Mrs. Anthony was sold and bought in by Fountain for $5, and resold to Van Benschoten for $15, neither of whom attempted to get possession, by suit of assistance or otherwise.

The defendant, Stern, leasing these facts, takes a lease from Van Benschoten for the coming year, which he sets up against his former landlord as a bar to the action to eject, for holding over, claiming that under the statute he had a right to attorn to any one who had title to the property, (whether good or bad,) by deed, by order or judicial decree of a Court of Equity, or by operation of law.

The plaintiff contended that she was in possession, under an unrecorded deed, before any papers were served in the suit, which possession was open and hostile to all the world; that by paying the mortgage she had discharged her land from the lien, and having her name stricken from the bill before the decree, she was not bound by any subsequent proceedings to which she cannot a party, and that her lease would not be good for the costs of the suit after she had paid the mortgage, which was the foundation of the decision. Also, that the deed to Van Benschoten was void, as his grantor was out of possession. Having established the conventional relation of landlord and tenant, she was entitled to a warrant removing the defendant Stern from the premises.

After hearing counsel, the warrant removing the tenant was granted.

Henry Day and Roswell D. Hatch, for plaintiff; Solomon L. Hull, for defendant Stern; Hill, Courtney & Mattell, for Van Benschoten.

Liability of Retiring Partner.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Monell.

Christ vs. Chopin.—This was an action brought on three notes given to plaintiff in March, 1861, by Pickett & Co., in renewal of former notes. The defense was that the party sued was not a partner.

The facts were, that prior to giving the notes, the firm of Pickett & Co. had been dissolved and that defendant Chopin had retired. This dissolution was first by operation of law, by an assignment in November, 1860, and secondly by advertisement in February, 1861, in the Journal of Commerce, to which the plaintiff subscribed.

The questions raised were, the sufficiency of the notice of dissolution, and the right of the remaining partners to sign the old name in renewal. Decision reserved.

Kinnere & Sweet for plaintiff; Wm. Henry Arnoux for defendant.

Decisions.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Lemarc.

Dale and others vs. Foster.—Stay of proceedings granted, $10 costs to the party prevailing on the appeal.

Before Justice Sutherland.

FRIDAY, June 5—P. M.

The price of Gold Coin was barely steady to-day, at 146@146¼ ⅌ cent., until late in the day, when it declined to 145¾@145¾. The rates of Exchange on England gave way ¼@1 ⅌ cent., and closed for Saturday's steamers at 159@159½ for bankers', and 158@158½ for merchant signatures. The Bill Brokers generally report a less active market than for Wednesday's mail. The steamers sailing to-morrow, including the Great Eastern, will take out large cargoes of Produce, but not much Gold and Silver. The telegraph from San Francisco announces that $766,000 left that port for England, direct, by the steamer of the 3d inst., and most of this will be drawn against from New York. The shipment by the same steamer for New-York is only $184,000. The Northern Light, from Aspinwall to-day, delivers $513,068 in California Gold. At 4 o'clock the latest news from Vicksburgh was considered as favorable to the National arms, and weakened the price of Gold, as noted above, ¼@¾ per cent.

There was less ease in loans to the Stock Brokers this forenoon than the signs of a better supply of Money yesterday indicated. The reports of the market, however, were contradictory, and after 2 o'clock, we heard few complaints from actual borrowers. The rates are 6@7 ⅌ cent. The conversions of United States Currency to-day into the 5.20-year 6 ⅌ cent. Stock amount to $1,492,500, of which $950,900 paid in through the Loan Agency, and $541,700 by subscription direct at the Treasury.

The day's business at the office of the Assistant Treasurer United States, was as follows: Receipts, $2,007,908 49, including for Customs, $143,000; Payments, $2,406,311 42; Balance, $31,547,359 08.

The buoyancy at the close of business yesterday in the Share market was not fully maintained this forenoon at the First Board of the Stock Exchange, and prices were weaker on the Street after the adjournment. At the Second Board there was some disposition to press sales of several of the Western Roads, and Erie Common shares were also lower before the Brokers left their room. The final quotations at 4 o'clock were not much better than on Wednesday night; the advance of yesterday being wholly or partially lost on nearly all descriptions. The Government 6 ⅌ cents continued in demand, and $150,000 were taken at the Second Board at 108¾ ⅌ cent. There was not much done in State Stocks, and only a moderate business in the Railway mortgages. The following prices were made on the general market at the close in comparison with Thursday night. Erie improved on the lowest sales.

We understand the administration of the Park Bank is to be changed early in July; the President, Mr. Rauner W. Howes, having tendered his resignation to take effect on the 15th of that month or on the election of his successor.

There is no difference in the issues of the United States Notes of legal tender, in regard to their convertibility into 5.20 year 6 ⅌ cent. Stock. This convertibility, as a right to the holder, ceases upon all the issues, after 30th inst., by positive act of Congress.

The earnings of the Toledo and Wabash Railway Company for the month of May were:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

It is now positively ascertained that there is a movement of a large portion of the rebel army under LEE. Columns of troops are in motion from Fredericksburgh, in a southwesterly direction, towards Gordonsville. Balloon reconnoissances yesterday discovered heavy clouds of dust, occasioned by the marching of continuous bodies of troops, on the Gordonsville road. Many of the rebel camps recently in sight have also disappeared, and their line of pickets has been doubled.

We have advices from Gen. GRANT'S army to Monday last, the 1st inst. They are of the most cheering character, and lead us to expect the speedy surrender of Vicksburgh.

A dispatch from the rear of Vicksburgh, dated the 31st ult., gives a report that Gen. JOS JOHNSTON was moving toward Jackson, but not in sufficient force to attack Gen. GRANT. A report was current in Cincinnati yesterday that JOHNSTON, instead of meditating an attack on Gen. GRANT'S rear, was marching on Memphis. The latter report is probably worthy of very little credit. The bombardment of the rebel stronghold is steadily continued. On the night of the 30th ult. all the guns in position opened and continued until daylight of the 31st without cessation. On the 30th, at daylight, twelve rebels were captured, while endeavoring to make their way into the city, having in their possession two hundred thousand percussion caps. This may be taken as an indication that percussion caps are growing scarce among the rebel garrison.

The news from Gen. ROSECRANS' Department is that a body of 1,300 rebel cavalry on Thursday made an attack upon our force at Franklin, driving them within their intrenchments. Here our men rallied, and succeeded in repulsing the enemy with heavy loss. A simultaneous attack was made upon our force at Triune, which appears to have been more successful. We lost 200 men, 400 horses, and a lot of camp and garrison equipage.

Gen. STAHL telegraphs from Fairfax Court-house to Washington that on Thursday morning a party of guerrillas made an attack on our pickets in front. A detachment of cavalry was at once sent in pursuit, which encountered the rebels near Frying-pan, and dispersed them.

The question of retaliation is likely to be brought up in connection with the capture of several of the First Kansas colored regiment by the guerrillas in a skirmish near Baxter Springs. A sharp correspondence has passed between LIVINGSTON, the guerrilla, who made the capture, and Col. WILLIAMS, of the colored regiment. The guerrilla offers to exchange the two white prisoners he held for two of his band in WILLIAMS' hands, announcing at the same time, his intention of keeping the negro soldiers as "contraband of war." He also intimates that if the reported death of one of his men be true he shall retaliate; to which threat WILLIAMS replied, "that he can play his hand"—that unless he (LIVINGSTON) exchanged the negroes immediately, as well as the white soldiers, he (W.) would hang the prisoners he held. This is the substance of what passed. Whether the exchange took place we are not advised.

President LINCOLN has signified his intention to be present at the great Union League celebration in Philadelphia on the Fourth of July. Large deputations from all parts of the Union are expected to attend.

Our Washington dispatches announce the presence of FERNANDO WOOD in Washington, and state that he was in conference with Mr. LINCOLN and the Secretary of War yesterday.

GENERAL NEWS.

The steamship Northern Light, from Aspinwall, on the 25th ult., arrived at this port yesterday, bringing $318,064 in treasure. The San Francisco steamer, which arrived at Panama previous to the sailing of the Northern Light, brought Mexican news, via Acapulco, to the effect that the French had suffered another defeat at Puebla, and that Gen. COMONFORT, with 18,000 men, had added his forces to the garrison. The date of this report is not given. The Constitutional Convention of the United States of Colombia had adjourned, after passing the new Constitution and electing MOSQUERA Provisional President. The Capital is to remain at Bogota. The State Legislature of Panama had passed a decree prohibiting French troops or ammunition from being passed across the Isthmus to Mexico, owing to the report that a large force of French soldiers were to be sent by that route to Acapulco. The news from Central America, by this arrival, is not important. CARRERA, the President of Guatemala, had not followed up his threat to again invade Salvador. JUAREZ had been totally defeated in his effort to overthrow the Government of President MARIONA, in Nicaragua. The new President of Costa Rica, JESUS JIMENEZ, had been inaugurated. The news from the South American States is of little interest.

The Grand Lodge of Freemasons closed its annual session at a late hour last night. The sum of $100 was donated to the Soldiers' Home Depot in Howard-street. The sum of $250 was appropriated to procure a testimonial to F. G. M. CRANE. Bros. A. S. COHEN and JAMES H. CONNOLLY were appointed reporters to the Grand Lodge. The following Deputy Grand-Masters were appointed: First District—JOHN H. ARTHUR. Second District—R. G. MAILLARD. Third District—JAMES M. FULLER, French and German Lodges—C. F. BAUER. The sum of $1,500 was appropriated to the New-York Board of Relief, when the same should be established.

In the billiard tournament, yesterday afternoon and evening, KAVANAGH beat FOX, FOLEY beat SEXTEN, GOLDTHWAITE beat TIEMAN and DERBY beat SHERRIFFER. This afternoon, KAVANAGH plays GOLDTHWAITE, and TIEMAN plays SHERRIFFER. In the evening, the first contest is between FOLEY and DERBY, the week's play closing with those marked experts, TIEMAN and FOX.

The Philadelphia papers state that Gen. BIRNEY has ordered a Kearny crest to be struck for presentation to Gen. MEAGHER. It will be of solid silver, with the buckles and clasp of pure gold, with a heavy scarlet ribbon, and will bear the following inscription: "Gen. MEAGHER, of Irish brigade, as KEARNY'S friend and comrade, from the old division." The medal will be finished in time for presentation before the General's departure for Europe.

It is stated that Gens. GRANT and PEMBERTON were, some years ago, both Lieutenants in the regular army, and belonged to the same regiment. They were stationed at Detroit.

JAMES ADKINS, a rebel pilot, captured from the prize steamer Aries, was yesterday taken from Fort Lafayette, and sent by the Circassian to the custody of Rear-Admiral FAULDING at Key West.

In the Court of Sessions yesterday, before Recorder HOFFMAN, JOSEPH LAWRENCE pleaded guilty to forgery in the fourth degree, and was remanded for sentence. LOUISA FARR pleaded guilty to petit larceny, and was sentenced to the Penitentiary six months.

The case of KIRTLAND, arrested as a spy by the Provost-Marshal, and brought up on habeas corpus before Judge McCUNN, was to have been argued yesterday, but owing to the unavoidable absence of the prisoner's counsel, it was postponed to 10 o'clock this morning.

The price of Gold closed 148¾ ₩ cent. yesterday, and Exchange on London 159@159½ ₩ cent. The Share list at the Stock Exchange lost the buoyancy and most of the advance of the day before. Government Stocks sold largely, at 108½ ₩ cent. for the 6 ₩ cents of 1881; and $1,492,500 of the 5.20-year 6 ₩ cents were taken at par by conversion of United States Currency.

Breadstuffs were in less demand, yesterday, at declining prices. A fair business was transacted in Hay, Tallow, East India Rice, and most kinds of Provisions, at uniform quotations. Cotton, Sugars and Molasses were active and buoyant. Manila Hemp was more sought after. Hops, Metals, Oils and Whisky were generally in moderate request. The freight engagements were checked by the increased firmness of shipowners.

Gov. Seymour and Negro Soldiers.

Gov. SEYMOUR is reported by one of his party organs to have declined an application by a Committee of colored men, to aid in the organization of a colored regiment for active service. He did this, it is stated, on the ground that "he had too much sympathy for the blacks to consent, as the position they must occupy would be one of extreme danger, and would lead to a dreadful and unnecessary sacrifice of life." If Gov. SEYMOUR is, indeed, so hard pushed that he has at last to fall back upon such a subterfuge, he can't give in too quickly. Our people will stand any quantity of negro "sejering" sooner than that their Governor shall cut so ridiculous a figure.

We will not answer for Albany, but in this latitude the African blood is not deemed any more precious than other blood. Its exposure to danger does not excite a whit more sympathy. Its subjection, even "to extreme danger," awakens no peculiar compassion. That is a liability common to all soldiers. It is, in fact, the soldier's creed the world over, we believe, that the post of danger is the post of honor. Men that have soldierly stuff in them are supposed rather to seek it than to shun it; and they would feel insulted at receiving commiseration when put on dangerous service. If sympathy is not suitable for the white soldier, whatever his risks, we don't know why it should be for the black. Life is quite as dear to the former as to the latter, and, to say the least, as well worth the keeping.

The Governor, we suppose, is laboring with the apprehension that the rebels will make a distinction against the black soldier, and hang him if they can catch him. If so, we can tell him that his old political habits are betraying him. The time has passed when this Government truckled to Southern threats. If black soldiers can be made useful to the National cause, they will be employed, and when employed will be protected. The Government has both the power and the will to do it. It will no more be affected by the pusillanimous counsels of such men as the Governor of New-York than the black soldier himself, who seems to fear JEFF. DAVIS a great deal less than HORATIO SEYMOUR does. The Government is prepared to vindicate the laws of war in favor of every soldier wearing uniform, and the black man is prepared to take the risks. That is sufficient. We don't understand how any Northern man, with a drop of Saxon blood in his veins, can in this day cower before the menaces of this bastard Confederacy—infinitely less how he can labor to infuse the same dastardly feeling into a being of an inferior race who seeks to vindicate his claims to manhood. We hear a great deal now a-days about the comparative rank of races. For the dignity of our own race, we protest against having that question turn upon any such example as that just presented in the Executive Chamber at Albany. It would certainly go against us on any standard of manhood recognized either in history or in action. What a scene for a painter! The white Governor of the State of New-York, in the year 1863, at the very height of the rebellion, appealing to the fears of black men, who crave the privilege of joining in the fight. We believe the time will come when, to point a patriotic moral for future generations, some high-souled artist will essay to commit to canvas the ineffable abjectness of the copperheadism of this day. He will be at no loss for illustrations, but we doubt whether he will find what will so completely satisfy his ideal of this spirit as this historical incident in our State Capitol.

We can imagine decent and even forcible objections to the employment of black soldiers. It was said at one time—and we ourselves felt so—that it was a matter of pride that the rebellion should be put down by the same race that provoked it; and that, too, by their voluntary patriotism. But the time for sentiment of that sort has passed. The question no longer is, how we can put down the rebellion so as to best save our pride, but how we can put it down at all. In raising our armies, we had to pass from the purely volunteer plan, which worked so well at first, to bounty expedients, and afterwards to conscript laws—and all at the sacrifice of a great deal of pride. We have at last come to be glad of any sort of fighting material, however procured. It was said also that white soldiers would mutiny, or at least become greatly disaffected, if there were enlistments of black men. Considering the intense prejudice which exists against color, this seemed not unlikely. But no such effect has occurred. It would seem that the sense of the usefulness of such troops, in their line of action, has overbalanced the prejudice. It was said that blacks would eat, but were too cowardly to wish to fight, and too stupid to learn to fight. Experience has pretty well settled that they have both the disposition and the ability to make good soldiers. It was said—though rather inconsistently with the last argument—that when taken into the enemy's country, their revengeful passions could not be restrained, and that they would commit horrors that would disgrace our cause before the civilized world. It has been proved that no part of our army are more orderly, submissive and controllable.

These results—many of them quite unexpected—have reconciled most practical men to the policy of the Government in raising black regiments, under white officers, to be engaged in separate and peculiar service. To all men of right feeling it is a source of gratification that there is a prospect, through these black regiments, that our brave Northern boys will be relieved of some of their most exhausting labors, and be saved, in some measure, at least, from the Midsummer effects of a pestiferous climate.

However, we have no care to quarrel with Gov. SEYMOUR on this score. He can cling, if he pleases, to the old notions, which other people have been forced by experience to unlearn. We will not insist at all upon his turning to account the ten thousand colored men of this State, who are of military age, and might do something toward diminishing the burden of the new draft soon to be made. Let the black man, if the Governor so insists, enjoy the protection of the State, without rendering any personal service in return, when all white men are liable to it. But, in the name of all that is decent, we beg of him not to add insult to injury upon our race, by teaching the black man a poltroonery which the nature God gave him repels. The man would degrade himself who should teach even his dog to be a coward.

The Peace Party.

There can be no question of the gain to the public at large of the peace meeting on Wednesday night. There has been a peace party in the country ever since the war began, but it has never ventured to declare openly its real aims. Either through a consciousness of its weakness, or through faith in the policy of temporization and subterfuge, it has steadily devoted itself rather to the support of things that were likely to hinder or delay the war, than to the advocacy of the immediate cessation of hostilities. It became aware at a very early stage in the conflict that if the Southern property in slaves were scrupulously respected, it would leave in the hands of the rebels the means of protracting their resistance almost indefinitely; and the first efforts of the opposition, therefore, were directed to securing to this species of property a formal exemption from the risks in which every other species of property was necessarily involved. They did all that pen and tongue could do to place negroes, for this once, in a different category from mules and cattle, and to make out their seizure or liberation as something more than usually outrageous and unjust. The natural effect of the operation of this theory, had they been successful in securing its adoption, would, of course, have been to neutralize at one stroke a large portion of the Northern superiority in point of population, on which the National Government relied largely for its final success. It would have converted, in short, the weakest point in the Confederacy into its strongest.

Simultaneously with this attempt to save the Confederacy from the natural consequences of the defects in its own social and political organization, the peace men endeavored to confuse the public mind and paralyze the national energy by keeping afloat the idea that there were two ways of carrying on a war of subjugation; one of them very destructive, bloody, and entailing great loss and suffering on the enemy, and creating great exasperation in his mind; and the other comparatively harmless and conciliatory, causing very little damage and leaving a door open at every step for a restoration of the harmonious relations previously existing. The first of these was declared to be the "radical" method; and the last the "conservative" one. Into the details of the "conservative" system of conducting hostilities, they always steadily refused to enter; but as well as could be made out, it consisted in threatening the South with large armaments, besieging its cities and blockading its ports, but avoiding general engagements and scrupulously returning fugitive slaves. The more evident it became that war might be carried on in this style till the crack of doom, without producing the least impression on the rebellion, and that perseverance in it would as surely and inevitably wear out Northern hope and patience as any number of sanguinary defeats, the more eagerly they clung to it, and abused all who called for more vigorous operations.

All this time, however, there was not a word of peace, except as the accompaniment of Southern submission. For that the public was not yet prepared. The peace policy so far was a policy of obstruction, which would gradually, by dint of disappointment and of hope deferred, work the selfish, short-sighted or timid into a state of mind in which the base counsels uttered on Wednesday night would be acceptable. To what extent the Administration, by mistakes of all kinds, played into their hands, and gave color to their sophistries, we do not here propose to speak. But in judging the errors of Mr. LINCOLN and his advisers, it must not be forgotten that in all wars, not to speak of wars so vast and so unexpected as ours, those who have the conduct and direction of them commit a thousand faults, which, if they do not mar the result, are only prevented from doing so by the hearty and united support and indulgence of the nation. The gravity of the mistakes of our Administration has been mainly due to the exceptional nature of their position, in having an energetic party behind them, playing into the hands of the enemy, and laboring to neutralize the effect of any successes that might be achieved in the field. To this, for instance, has mainly been due the President's difficulties in the choice of Generals, and the apparent want of harmony and concert in the policy, both political and military, pursued in different portions of the Union. He has had constantly to select his agents and make his plans not simply with reference to their effect upon the national enemies at the South, but in reference to their effect upon the opponents of the war at the North.

The cause between the peace party and the nation has, however, at last—as lawyers would say—been brought to an issue. It is stripped of all extraneous matter, and the simple, single, naked point of difference is now at last presented for inspection and discussion. The public attention will, therefore, no longer be distracted by controversies about McCLELLAN, or emancipation, or the habeas corpus. The question now is, shall we go on fighting in the hope, be it small or great, of restoring the Union, or shall we make peace for the sake of peace, and leave the Union to its fate? Nothing can be simpler than this, and whatever way it is decided, nobody can say that he misunderstood the point in dispute. And if the struggle is now relinquished, it will clearly indicate that the American people have come to the conclusion that war is the worst of evils, and that any amount of humiliation is preferable to three campaigns.

Religious and Political Reunion.

A movement of considerable importance to the religious world is now in progress in this country. The Presbyterian Church, which was rent in twain in the year 1837, and has existed since in two divisions, known as the Old School and New School, is in gradual process of reunion. There is scarcely a doubt of the eventual redintegration of the body, which will then become one of the most powerful moral and intellectual agencies of the day.

The Presbyterian Church of the United States, as it existed previously to the schism of 1837, was the result of a "plan of union," adopted in the year 1801, between the "Presbyterians and Congregationalists" of this country. This union was based on assumed doctrinal identity; and this identity was so far real as to secure great unity of purpose, and great energy and success for the consolidated society. At the time of its disruption, the Presbyterian Church contained 2,140 ministers, 2,865 churches, and 220,557 communicants; and no ecclesiastical body of the times was, for its numbers, more liberal in the support of institutions of learning, missionary and other religious enterprises, or more zealous in the inculcation and practice of the tenets of an orthodox faith.

The breach was, at the time of its occurrence, regarded by the outside world as quite uncalled for, for the points of difference belonged rather to the domain of church polity than of doctrine. However, divergencies in faith, in politics and in almost everything else, followed, growing naturally out of the alienation of the two divisions of the sundered church from each other. It will be remembered that this ecclesiastical schism was brought into the arena of political discussion in 1840 and in 1844, and was supposed to presage the eventual dissolution of the Union. The Slavery question, as a matter of course, had its influence in widening and aggravating the breach. The New School party became in the main an Anti-Slavery body, while the Old School, represented in the South by such men as Dr. THORNWELL, of South Carolina, and Dr. BRECKINRIDGE, of Kentucky, and in the North by such organs as the New-York Observer, became highly conservative on the subject of Slavery, and contended for the strictest observance of the rights of slaveholders in the ownership and reclamation of slaves. It would be unjust, however, to the Old School Presbyterians of the North, as a body, to admit that they were ever apologists or defenders of Slavery as an abstract principle, or that they have given any countenance to the arrogant assumptions of the institution that have involved the nation in the present war. Dr. BRECKINRIDGE, indeed, has become one of the foremost champions of the Church for the Union and against the rebellion.

After twenty-seven years of separation and frequent acrimonious antagonism, the two branches of the Church are now about to be reunited. The General Assembly of the New School Presbyterians are in session at Philadelphia, and the General Assembly of the Old School at Peoria, Ill. A Commission was appointed by the New School body to visit the Old School Assembly and negotiate for the reunion of the Church. The Old School Assembly received the overture in a most friendly and catholic spirit, and have admitted the New School delegates to seats in their body as "corresponding members;" but true to their conservative and cautious policy, they have prescribed the following steps preliminary to the approaching reunion:

Resolved, That in the judgment of the General Assembly, it is not deemed expedient to take at this time any decided action with reference to a reunion of the New and Old School Presbyterian Churches.

Resolved, That in the fraternal correspondence now happily inaugurated, the General Assembly would recognize an initiative in the securing a better understanding of the relations which subsist between the two Assemblies, and the means of promoting that mutual charity, and that just appreciation of the true ground of Christian union and fellowship which may serve to prepare the way for a union that shall be harmonious and permanently productive of the interests of truth and vital godliness.

The end can be very easily anticipated. There is not and really never was a substantial cause for the split in the Church. But yet it looks as if what was deplored at the time as a grievous misfortune to the cause of Christianity had been overruled to the accomplishment of a greater good. Each branch of the Church since the separation has enjoyed unexampled prosperity. In 1860, the Old School Presbyterians numbered 2,693 ministers, 3,592 churches and 292,857 communicants, which, it will be perceived, is a much greater strength than the entire Church had before the schism. In the same year, the New School Presbyterians counted 1,527 ministers, 1,488 churches and 134,922 communicants. The two bodies, if combined, will number 4,220 ministers, 5,075 churches and 427,790 communicants. This is, as we have said, a moral power inferior to no other like agency in the country, and the reunion of such a society, at such a time, is a happy omen of that unity which we hope to attain for our country at the close of the present civil war.

THE ANACONDA PLAN.—The necessity of pushing active operations into the rebel territory, and attacking him energetically, is revealed more and more, as we continue to do so; and the errors of the anaconda plan, as a permanent mode of operation, are made more patent daily. We had news, yesterday, that a naval expedition had ascended the Red River as far as Shreveport, 330 miles from its mouth, and had there found on the stocks and destroyed two immense iron-clad rebel vessels, of sufficient power to have demolished our Mississippi fleet. A few days ago Admiral PORTER forwarded a dispatch announcing that he had sent an expedition up the Yazoo, and that at Yazoo City three powerful steamers had been destroyed, and also a monster ram, 310 feet long, 70 feet beam, to be covered with 4-inch iron-plate. At both Shreveport and Yazoo City were found extensive navy-yards, which were demolished. These are but a fraction of the rebel iron-clads that have been destroyed on the Western rivers during the year, or since FARRAGUT and PORTER began active operations in searching for them. All the Western streams have been pretty thoroughly scoured now, however, and we imagine that these late exploits must about have finished up all the rebel iron-clads in that section, unless they happen to have some up the Arkansas River, which as yet has not been penetrated for any distance.

If we had remained in quiet till the rebels had completed all these powerful vessels—if our war steamers had not gone in search of theirs, they would soon have had a fleet afloat that would have driven our wooden craft from all the Western waters, and might even have attacked Pittsburgh and St. Paul.

TRANS-MISSISSIPPI.—The three rebel States west of the Mississippi River—Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas—had, by last census, a population of one million and three-quarters—over eleven hundred thousand of which were whites, and the remainder negroes. In the seven Southern States on this side of the river, which, while the rebels hold Vicksburgh, may be said to be yet commanded by JEFF. DAVIS, there were a fraction over three millions and a half of white men—that is, including the entire population of Virginia, (and we may set off West Virginia, held by us, against East Tennessee, held by the rebels.) It will thus be seen that there is actually close upon one-quarter of the entire population of the Confederacy in the three rebel States west of the Mississippi, which region is completely cut off from the Confederacy, a great part of it reduced by our army, and all of it only waiting for actual occupation by a small force.

Nearly all of the fighting element of these three States, was brought to this side of the Mississippi before we obtained control of the river, and is now in the armies of BRAGG, JOHNSTON and LEE. Only a few regiments were left to defend the principal points, and these cannot possibly be reinforced. But we do not suppose, notwithstanding the bragging of the Governor of Texas, that these three States have contributed, altogether, over a hundred thousand men to the rebel armies, which would be a prodigious ratio of their population. So that there must still remain in them a white population of over a million.

The vast importance of the gains we have made in the Southwest, does not seem to be generally appreciated in the East.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR GRANT.—We are glad to furnish some proof this morning that the Government is reinforcing Gen. GRANT. We give from the Western newspapers the names of a number of steamboats that have passed down the Mississippi River laden with troops, and that is a kind of evidence that will gain credence, even though the bare assertions of the telegraph may not. We suggested, yesterday, that there were large bodies of spare troops in Western Tennessee and Kentucky, and it seems to be mainly from these regions that they are being taken. That section is in the Department of Gen. GRANT, and the troops are probably being brought down by his orders; but we trust that the Government will not confine Gen. GRANT'S reinforcements to those he can obtain from his own Department.

We have no fears whatever of the result at Vicksburgh, if the Government will comply with GRANT'S reasonable demands. PEMBERTON, it seems, says he will die rather than surrender. It makes little difference to us which course he adopts.

The "Legal Tender" Decision.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The General Term of the Supreme Court of the State of New-York, in the First District, has decided that United States notes are not a legal tender for the payment of debts contracted previous to the act of Congress, bearing date Feb. 25, 1862. All the Judges concurred, each delivering a long opinion in support of the conclusion which has just been announced.

The reasons adduced by the Judges may be summed up as follows:

1. The United States being in the possession of certain delegated powers, and not being in possession of any powers except such as have been delegated to them, they may "coin money," because the Constitution says they may, but they cannot issue paper, because the Constitution nowhere permits it.

2. The Constitution having prohibited the States from making "anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts," it follows that the Court of a State cannot make United States paper or any other paper such a tender, or compel a creditor to receive it in satisfaction of a debt.

3. The act of Congress above alluded to impairs the obligation of contracts, and is therefore unconstitutional.

As to the first reason, so long as it remains an open question whether the act of stamping pieces of paper with various emblems and words intended to give them value, is or is not "coining money," so long lawyers and courts will differ among themselves, and so long some of the courts will differ from the Treasury Department of the United States. But the Treasury Department have the printing presses and the paper, and their argument is the argument of the strong. Nine-tenths of us do not believe that stamping paper notes is coining money, but in view of the attention of affairs, we conclude not to stand upon the precise meaning of words.

As to the second reason: The States cannot "make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts;" that is, the Legislature of a State cannot pass, nor the Courts construe any act to that effect. Does it follow from this that Congress cannot pass such an act? Is not the exclusion of this power from the States virtually its expression somewhere else? And where else, if nowhere else, than in Congress? In the articles of confederation of the United States, it is provided that "the United States shall never . . . emit bills . . . unless nine States assent to the same." The power of emitting bills was then in the collective States, exercisable by a majority of them. After the Confederation came the Union with the present Constitution. Now what has become of the power of the collective States to emit bills? The States have, as individual States, lost this power, and it has either lapsed entirely, or it has come into the hands of Congress. But there can hardly be such a thing as the lapse, or loss, or annihilation of a political power. It may be merged or transferred, but I do not see how it can lapse or be destroyed, unless by the destruction of the thing in which the power at first resided.

Issue must be taken squarely on this question. The States having once had the power to emit bills of credit, and that power having been taken away from them, is it lost, or is it vested in Congress?

If it is lost, then it is time to discuss whether under its power to "coin money," Congress can stamp paper into money. If it is vested in Congress, the question of seinage becomes irrelevant.

The third reason given by the Judges is one of almost no force at all. Congress may "provide for the general welfare of the United States," and may "regulate the value" of money, and the private contracts of citizens must necessarily give way to the general good. When great events are in progress, individuals here and there are sure to be raised; but the misfortunes of individuals are of secondary consideration to public welfare.

I will consider for a moment the practical result of this General Term decision in the First District, in regard to bonds and mortgages matured prior to Feb. 25, 1862. If the holder of a bond and mortgage demands the principal, and the debtor tender United States notes, the holder may refuse to receive them, nor will the Court compel him to do otherwise. What then? He retains the mortgage, but he is as far from the possession of the property mortgaged as ever. Now, suppose he foreclosed, and the property is offered for sale in the manner prescribed by law; at such a sale greenbacks will buy the property, being current funds wherewith to purchase goods or lands, what state will the mortgagee take to get the gold to which he is entitled by the bond? If the property sells for enough in greenbacks to satisfy the face of the claim, will not the bond be extinguished? The mortgagee, by stooping on his right to collect the bond at the time when gold was current funds, virtually surrenders the claim to be lifted over to a time when paper is current funds for all purposes of sales and purchases; and if he forces the property to sale, he must take the kind of funds for which the property sells.

Or he may do this: He may hold the bond and mortgage bad call it gold, on which he may draw interest in paper, while his neighbors invest in the bonds of the United States, in paper, and draw interest in gold. His neighbors will practically have the best of him, but he will have the satisfaction of adhering both to principle and principal, and of being sustained by the Supreme Court in the possession of both.

Dr. J. H. SCHENCK can be found at his principal office, No. 38 North 6th-st., Philadelphia, every Saturday, and at No. 32 Broad-st., New-York, every Tuesday. All persons who stand in need of his advice, (for which no charge is made,) are invited to call on him.

For a thorough examination of the lungs with the Respirometer, he charges $2. It is very important that the doctor should know the precise state of the lungs, and it is a great satisfaction to the patient to have correct information on this subject. It is well, therefore, for every one who can afford the expense, to have a thorough examination. There is so much variety in cases of consumption, that a different treatment may be required according to circumstances. The three great medicines of Dr. SCHENCK are adapted to all cases, but sometimes one or two of them will be sufficient. Occasionally a box of Mandrake Pills alone (costing 25 cents) will relieve the sufferer, if the disease is merely a bad cold or an obstruction of the liver. The Pulmonic syrup is always required when there is any considerable disorder of the respiratory organs, indicated by cough, pains in the breast or side, difficulty of breathing, &c. This Syrup purifies the blood, from which it separates the bile and expels all diseased matter, leaving the blood in a healthy condition, and this is a very considerable part of the cure. The Seaweed Tonic, in connection with the Pulmonic Syrup, is a most important remedy in almost every case of consumption, it removes that debilitated state of the system which always accompanies pulmonary disease, and which very often causes it. SCHENCK'S Seaweed Tonic strengthens the appetite and improves the digestion, and the patient instead of being confined to a low, scanty diet, according to the absurd custom which generally prevails, is enabled to digest the most nourishing food, that to gain strength, and this is all that is necessary to complete the cure. No matter how fat or rich the food may be, the Seaweed Tonic will make it digestible, and by this means the whole body is nourished and invigorated.

Where persons feel weak and debilitated, a wine glass of the Seaweed Tonic will revive and strengthen the patient at once. It is a pleasant stimulant or bitters, perfectly harmless. Freely taken, it is a certain remedy against chills and fevers. The Mandrake Pills are intended to remove obstructions and to carry off the diseased matter. And thus it appears that all three of DR. SCHENCK'S Medicines are used in a majority of consumptive cases; and if used according to directions, they are INFALLIBLE; provided the disease is not advanced too far to make a cure impossible; as it certainly is if the lungs are nearly destroyed.

☞ Patients will please to take notice that when circumstances make it impossible for them to have a personal interview with DR. SCHENCK, they will know how to proceed with the use of his medicines. A letter will be accompanied by full directions in English, French, German and Spanish, and these directions are so explicit, that whatever may be the form of the disease, or the condition of the patient, no mistake in the use of the medicines will be possible. Each bottle of Pulmonic Syrup is accompanied by a pamphlet describing the different forms of consumption, and the symptoms are so accurately described that every one may know which of the medicines is adapted to his own particular case.

Several things are to be carefully observed. The patient must use the medicines according to directions; he must avoid taking cold, he must eat nourishing food, taking care to chew it well, and he must avoid "partaking of" too strong or rich a diet. For the Seaweed Tonic will empower the stomach to digest anything which may properly be called food. If these simple rules are observed, Dr. SCHENCK promises a certain cure, provided there is enough of the lungs remaining to carry on the operations of nature. All who are present on this day are invited to call at DR. SCHENCK'S rooms, twelve-York, Boston, Philadelphia or Baltimore, and they will see, not only the vast amount of written and printed evidence which proves the efficacy of DR. SCHENCK'S medicines but they will also meet with a number of persons who are now living proofs, and who are ready to testify that they have been rescued, in some cases from the immediate prospect of death, by the use of Dr. Schenck's remedies. Invalids may hear from the lips of these patients, a declaration of the benefit they have invariably received from Dr. Schenck's treatment, and may all of them depart in excellent spirits, and in confident expectation of a cure. Dr. Schenck has been in constant practice, giving advice, and examining the lungs of consumptive patients, for more than twenty years. The cures performed by him have been very numerous, and in some instances almost wonderful. See his pamphlets, which may be had gratis on application at his rooms.

DR. SCHENCK'S Principal Office is at No. 38 North 6th-st., Philadelphia, Pa., where letters for advice should always be directed.

CATARRH CURED
BY
DR. VON EISENBERG.

Author of "Surgical and Practical Observations on the Diseases of the Ear, with his new Mode of Treatment."

NEW TESTIMONY.

"NEW-YORK, May 5.

I was entirely deaf in my left ear, accompanied by a discharge. I placed myself under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, who, by his great skill, restored me to perfect hearing, in the short space of a few minutes, without giving me the slightest pain, and the discharge has ceased entirely. The Eustachian Tube, which was obliterated, is quite open, and I feel that the air-passage performs its functions. I am amply satisfied, and recommend every one suffering from impaired hearing to place themselves under the treatment of this eminent and successful physician.
THOMAS GRAHAN, No. 239 6th-av."

"NEW-YORK, May 7, 1863.

I have great pleasure in testify to the skill of Dr. VON EISENBERG. I went into his office almost completely deaf, and came out with my perfect hearing. It is nearly twelve months since, and the hearing is perfect. The operation, which lasted two or three minutes in each of my ears, gave me no pain whatsoever. I, with confidence recommend all sufferers to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unsurpassing skill.
SAMUEL C. HUNT,

"No. 126 MADISON-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 4, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noises in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.
JOHN TAYLOR,

NEW-YORK, July 15, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head; together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with congealed blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

J. E. VON EISENBERG, M. D.—Dear Doctor: I have been afflicted with total deafness, and was induced to pay you a visit. No one can imagine my delight when, after one operation, my hearing was suddenly, and without pain, restored to me, for which I feel very grateful. After being totally deaf—almost shut out from the pleasure of using a necessary a sense—to have it returned, and to hear so distinctly, reflects great credit on you for the immense amount of skill you possess. I beg to thank you for what I can so truly appreciate. I am, Sir, your obedient servant.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heariness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hopes of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment; as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

ELECTRICAL.

DISCOVERIES AND WONDERFUL RESULTS.

In the presentation of a new discovery, the first thing demanded by the public is evidence to show that the author's claims are solidly and laid upon science, without which they can never stand the test of investigation. In the Fall of last Dr. CHAMBERLIN located at No. 60 Bond-st., New-York, and announced to the public that he had made an important discovery in electrical science, and perfected a system for the treatment and cure of a class of diseases that had heretofore baffled all medical skill and remedial agencies. He also published letters, certificates and testimonials, from the highest and most unimpeachable sources, from gentlemen residing in Philadelphia, Albany, Rochester, &c., certifying, in the most emphatic terms, that his claims were based upon science and cures the most astonishing on record. While in New-York his rooms have been crowded with patients, suffering from nearly every form of disease, in many instances from ten to fifteen years, and in nearly every case where the treatment was continued, a perfect cure has been effected; and, even in the most hopeless cases, permanent relief has been obtained.

Dr. CHAMBERLIN employs no drugs, but relies wholly upon Electricity, which he employs in all its various modifications. Medical men and others who have occasionally used Electricity, (although ignorant of the laws governing its operations,) have been led to believe, from the success of their own random experiments, that in it resided a curative agent, if properly directed, capable of removing nearly all the ills to which flesh is heir, but that the great secret of knowing when, where and how to apply it, had not been discovered. Dr. CHAMBERLIN claims to have discovered this secret, which is alone the cause of his unparalleled success. The following testimonials are here adduced to show that the cases cured are seldom, if ever, benefited by medicine.

The diseased are invited to call at No. 60 Bond-st.

Consultation free. Circulars forwarded to order.

No. 160 ORCHARD-ST.,
NEW-YORK, May 15, 1863.

DR. CHAMBERLIN—DEAR SIR:

Feeling most grateful for a speedy and effectual recovery from one of the greatest ills that ever befel mortal man, I take this method of returning my sincere acknowledgments of your wonderful discovery for the cure of deafness.

For five years I was a martyr to rheumatism; first in the hip, which caused me to limp as I walked, and was very painful. I sought the advice of eminent physicians, who for two years failed to remove the complaint, and I continued to get worse till completely prostrated; the intense pain all over my body finally settled in the foot and ankle, and was considered incurable; my limp was then changed to a hobble, and while urging myself along, I have shrieked aloud in perfect agony. I had tried so many remedies, internally and externally, without relief, that I despaired of ever again enjoying life and its blessings. In fact, I had become a picture of misery to myself and everybody around me. At this time I was recommended to consult you at No. 60 Bond-st., with no hope of success, but as a drowning man will catch at a straw, I mechanically followed your directions, and was cured so suddenly that I could scarcely believe it myself; but when, after a month, I found all my energies restored, found I could walk, work, enjoy life as other men, it was then time to banish all skepticism, and hail with joy this new and wonderful discovery that has made a man of me again; and I say to the limping and gouty, go and do likewise.

I cheerfully invite all who doubt the efficacy of electricity to call on me, and my fellow-artists will testify to the facts of the foregoing statement. Certificates, with regard to the truth of the above, will be furnished to all who desire.

In hopes this will be the means of inducing the afflicted generally to go and get well, I beg leave to subscribe myself, your most obedient servant,
CHARLES F. HUBBS.

Is there a cure for chronic disease? This question is daily asked by thousands, and the response has always been in the negative.

I now give a brief statement of my own experience and what I have witnessed in the case of others.

I have been the chief of sufferers, and in many instances, to all appearance, even unto death.

Seven years ago I had a run of fever, and was subjected to calomel treatment. I finally recovered, so as to drag around mechanically, with vital energies paralized and health forces arrested. Since then I have been a mere wreck of humanity, and a subject for medical men to experiment upon. On several occasions I have fallen as if dead, and remained insensible for hours; the doctor was called, calomel administered, and, when it failed to relieve, an emetic was given to save life. For years I had been bloated, even to deformity, about the stomach, liver and abdomen; I was in constant misery, had no appetite, and the little I did eat only aggravated; liver, stomach and bowels refused to work, except under the stimulus of exciting drugs, to which I had to resort every few days to remove the bilious accumulations. Such, in fact, was my condition, that I had vanished all hope of cure or even relief. Last November, I read the announcement of DR. CHAMBERLIN, claiming a new discovery for the cure of chronic diseases, by a galvanic process. The doctor's theory seemed so plausible that I availed myself of his treatment. The effect was magical; my whole system was soon in healthful action, and what surprised me most was, after a few days, the entire disappearance of the enlargement about the diaphragm. I will here add that my health has been uniformly good for several months.

Since my recovery, I have recommended the treatment to several of my friends, who have also been restored to health by Dr. CHAMBERLIN. If space would permit, I could describe several cases of cure that came under my observation while at the Doctor's office, that seem nothing short of miracle.
Residence, Lafarge House. G. W. COPEMAN.

NEW-YORK, May 19, 1863.

I cheerfully certify, for the good of suffering humanity, what I have seen and personally experienced in the treatment and cure of diseases of about every kind by Electricity administered by Dr. CHAMBERLIN, No. 60 Bond-st., New-York.

It was in the Fall of 1862 when I commenced treatment with Dr. CHAMBERLIN, a mere wreck, suffering from a troublesome catarrhal affection of twenty years standing; the mucous membrane from the nose down the bronchial ramifications was highly inflamed, causing almost incessant coughing and spitting. I was also suffering from all the horrors of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, torpidity of the liver, and there was great bodily prostration. I had suffered from rheumatism for years, and latterly almost unto death. I did not suppose it in the power of any agent to cure me, for I had tried all the remedies that the most experienced physicians had prescribed, and was growing worse. I had also resorted to many quack medicines, urged upon me by friends.

While in this condition of body and mind, I tried the electric treatment of Dr. CHAMBERLIN, and in this I was not disappointed, as my ailments gradually disappeared, and my general health is now better than for many years, if not better than it ever enjoyed. Again, I have seen many persons casually while in the Doctor's operating room, and have observed the effect of the treatment upon them. There was not a case came under my observation that was not cured, or greatly benefited, and even the most hopeless cases were so relieved that no evidence but my own senses could have caused me to have believed the change; in fact, in some instances, it was like a miracle. Scarcely [illegible] the treatment of Dr. CHAMBERLIN. No [illegible]

A NEW NOVEL, BY MISS SEWELL.
D. APPLETON & CO.,
Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway,
PUBLISH THIS DAY,
A GLIMPSE OF THE WORLD.
BY MISS SEWELL,
Author of "Amy Herbert."
One vol., 12mo., cloth, $1 25.

From the London Athenæum.

The World, of which a glimpse is given in this commendable tale, is the world of domestic cares, trials, and affections. The interest of the narrative depends less upon plot and incidents than on delineation of character.

From the Press.

Of this authoress' style and language it would be superfluous to speak. The simplicity of a refined nature, the ease of a skilled writer, and the correctness of an industrious one, are conspicuous in every page.

JUST PUBLISHED,
TWO PICTURES;
WHAT WE THINK OF OURSELVES
AND
WHAT THE WORLD THINKS OF US.
1 vol., 12mo., cloth, $1 50.

From the Commercial Advertiser.

The author of "Two Lives" and of "Charles and Counsler Chauncy" will never lack readers, and in the volume before us she has transcended herself. Everywhere thickly scattered through Two Pictures, some of the truest touches of human nature, and some of the most pointed applications of principles that we have ever met with. Moreover it is a truly American novel in scene and tone, and a noble philanthropic in sentiment. We commend it to our readers with the most perfect confidence that none can peruse it without being charmed and profited.

LILIAN;
A ROMANCE.
One volume, 16mo. Price $1.

"LILIAN.—We have been fortunate enough to see the early sheets of a novel, which we may announce, we believe as a Boston novel, to be published by Ticknor & Fields. No author's name appears upon the title page, but it is whispered that Lilian is the work of a Bostonian. It is evidently the work of a lady, of one who has travelled much and traveled well, of a reader, a connoisseur of the beauties of art and nature, an artist indeed in the mysteries of music.

The story is singularly exciting in passages and in its denouement—and so varied in its scenes that the actors are led into a variety of surroundings which strongly test the author's ability in one of the most difficult fields of her art. The Italian scenes, and the seaboard life seem to us especially successful.

Lilian will be published early in June, and we predict for it decided success."—Boston Daily Advertiser.

Dr. C. BERY & CO. will send their specific for the sure cure of diseases brought on by secret habits and other imprudence, together with a treatise for its management. Address Dr. C. BERY & CO., New-York.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 10 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the Hospitals of London, Paris and Salzburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In a 20 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any man on or will and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; if you take but little money and time to report your case, you have been unfortunate, and of course. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most difficult cases. Affecting cases of Gonorrhoea or Syphilis, blood taint, nightly pains, stricture, &c., in new shape, from business or pleasure, secondary Syphilis—the last vestige obliterated without the use of Mercury. Impotency, premature decay, and all diseases requiring skill and secrecy, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and especially cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 10 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS. SUCCESS.—Fully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 10 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhoea, gleet, stricture, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Specific or Life Restorative, the vigor of youth in two weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby specifully cured. The man to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases; consultation free; the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world; guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. N. B.—Those who have used their preparatives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. Sent by express or medicine sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

DRS. TRALL & JACKSON'S "PATHOLOGY OF THE REPRODUCTIVE ORGANS."—"This is really a scientific work of great practical value. All other works on the subjects discussed in this volume, that have fallen under our observation, are addressed to the passions and appetites, and are positively pernicious."—Chicago Tribune. "This volume is full of scientific information of incalculable benefit in the cure of disease."—New-Bedford Mercury. "It is unquestionably the most complete, the most sensible and the most valuable work of its kind yet published."—The New Yorker. "It offers fashionable advice to suffering humanity, which will save thousands from unnecessary sickness and premature graves to quack doctors and sanitical treatment."—Boston Journal. "It is the only work in existence containing directions which will positively cure that distressing disease termed spermatorrhoea, and other sexual diseases which cause so much misery to the human family."—Boston Express. Price $4. Sold in New-York by FOWLER & WELLS, No. 308 Broadway.

THE VIGOR OF YOUTH IS RESTORED in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and impediments to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, seminal weakness? Are you troubled with nocturnal emissions? Have you a premature decay of your powers? Do you feel yourself unfitted for the married state? If so, you should immediately consult Drs. WARD and POWERS, No. 10 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, the only place. Call, send or write.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE in a sealed envelope, nearly 200 pages, and 125 prescriptions and compounds of the nature of the most eminent, on the laws of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, the consequences of which are the total and complete prostration of the mental and physical powers, with the appropriate modes of treatment—the only rational manner of cure, as shown by the report of our consultations. MEDICAL ELECTRICITY.—PRACTICAL Electrician (daily). Science and success. Diseases: Neuralgia, Numbness, &c., cured by Electricity; table, using modest treatment. FOLLON'S Institute, No. 192 East 10th-st.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated 20 less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, by regular treatment; all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in now cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole catalog of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attempted it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 2 Division-st. Book for 3 three-cent stamps. Sold by Jayne, 162 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia; Jones, 168 Tremont-st., Boston; Sherman & Co., 170 Market-st., San Francisco; Sherman & Co., 10 Court-st., Boston.

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY.—PRACTICAL Electrician (daily). Science and success. Diseases: Neuralgia, Numbness, &c., cured by Electricity; table, using modest treatment. FOLLON'S Institute, No. 192 East 10th-st.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated 20 less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, by regular treatment; all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in now cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole catalog of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attempted it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 2 Division-st. Book for 3 three-cent stamps. Sold by Jayne, 162 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia; Jones, 168 Tremont-st., Boston; Sherman & Co., 170 Market-st., San Francisco; Sherman & Co., 10 Court-st., Boston.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR STEAM MACHINERY.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, June 2, 1863.

Sealed Proposals will be received by the Navy Department until the 15th of June, for STEAM MACHINERY of the following description, viz.:

General engines, two cylinders, diameter of cylinder, 56 inches; stroke of piston, 4 feet; multiple of gearing, 4; diameter of driving-wheel to pitch line, 10 feet 7 inches; length over all of driving-wheel, 11 feet 10 inches. To have one Sewall's surface condenser, with seamless brass tubes and an exposed condensing surface of 3,400 square feet. To have vertical water-tube boilers, with seamless brass tubes, containing 600 square feet of grate surface and 24,000 square feet of heating surface. To have a superheating apparatus. To have one brass screw of 16 feet diameter, with four blades and a length of 27 inches. To have a brass and copper rudder, rudder-post and shoe, and to be provided with eight hoving engines and eight steam pumps. The drawings of these engines can be examined at the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

Two back-action engines for the United States frigate Franklin, at the Kittery Navy-yard: diameter of cylinders, 68 inches; stroke of piston, three feet nine inches. To have one Sewall's surface condenser, with seamless brass tubes, and an exposed condensing surface of 5,600 square feet. To have two Sewall's surface condensers, with seamless brass tubes, containing 550 square feet of grate surface and 16,000 square feet of heating surface. To have a superheating apparatus. To have one brass screw of 16 feet diameter, with four blades and a length of 32 inches. To have a brass and copper rudder, rudder-post and shoe; and to be provided with four hoving-engines and four steam pumps. The design of these engines to be similar to that of the above, 68 inches diameter of cylinder and 3 feet 8 inches stroke of piston.

Back-action screw engines for gunboats, with two cylinders, each of 36 inches diameter, and a stroke of piston of 24 inches. Each boiler to have one Sewall's surface condenser, with seamless brass tubes, and an exposed condensing surface of 1,200 square feet. To have vertical water-tube boilers, with seamless brass tubes, containing 187 square feet of grate surface and 4,700 square feet of heating surface. To have a superheating apparatus. To have one brass screw of 14 feet diameter, with four blades, and a length of 18 inches. To have a brass and copper rudder, rudder-post, and shoe, and to be provided with one steam pump. The drawings of these engines can be examined at the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

Inclined paddle-wheel engines for double-ended gunboats, with one cylinder of 56 inches diameter of cylinder, and a stroke of piston of 8 feet 9 inches. To have one Sewall's condenser, with seamless brass tubes, and an exposed condensing surface of 2,500 square feet. To have vertical water-tube boilers, with seamless brass tubes containing 308 square feet of grate surface, and 8,000 square feet of heating surface. To have a superheating apparatus. To have overhung iron paddle-wheels of 28 feet 8 inches diameter, and 8 feet length of paddle. To have two blowing engines, and one steam pump. The general plan and specification of this engine can be examined at the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

The material, workmanship and finish of all the screw engines to be the same as described in the specifications for the screw machinery of the sloops of the Juniata class, copies of which are in possession of all the principal marine steam engine building establishments in the United States.

All the provisions embraced in the contracts for that machinery to apply to the contracts which may be made under this advertisement. The same number of duplicate pieces; and the same quantity of tools, instruments, outfits, etc., proportionally, to be supplied, that is called for in those specifications.

The proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for Steam Machinery," to distinguish them from other business letters.

Parties are requested to offer for any one of the above engines, or for as many as they may consider themselves able to execute.

The contract will embrace the usual conditions, and payments will be made in the usual manner as the work progresses.

The Department reserves the right to reject any or all of the proposals that may be made under this advertisement, if, in its opinion, the public interest requires.

The proposal will state the name or names of the Navy-yards at which the parties intend to furnish the machinery; the number of engines they propose to build; the names of the parties in full, and their varieties; the gross sum for which they propose to furnish the machinery, erected in the vessel complete and ready for cleaning, and the time from date of contract in which they will guarantee to complete the work.

The proposals of parties will also be considered who may choose to offer for machinery of equal power on plans and specifications of their own in place of those above designated.

PROPOSALS FOR HAY, STRAW AND GRAIN.

ASSISTANT QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE, FORAGE DEPARTMENT, corner of G and 22d-sts., WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16, 1863.

Written proposals are invited for furnishing HAY, STRAW, OATS and CORN for the use of this depot, to be delivered at the railroad depot, or at any of the Government wharves in this city.

The proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and they should state the quantity of each article offered, also the price and the date of delivery.

Proposals will be received for five thousand (5,000) bushels of Corn or Oats, and fifty (50) tons of Hay or Straw, and upward, unless it should be for the interest of the Government to contract for a less amount.

All grain to be put up in good sacks, of about two (?) bushels each, which are to be furnished at the cost of the contractor.

The Hay and Straw to be securely baled.

All Grain and Hay offered to be subject to a rigid inspection by the Government inspector.

Contracts will be awarded from time to time to the lowest responsible bidders, as the interests of the service may require. Good security will be required for the faithful fulfillment of any contract made under this advertisement.

Payment to be made at the completion of the contract.

S. L. BROWN, Captain and A. Q. M. U. S. A.

QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON CITY, March 19, 1863.

OWNERS OF STEAM VESSELS ARE INvited to send in to the Quartermaster-General's Office tenders for their disposal to the Government.

Senders should contain description of the vessels, their dimensions, enrolled or registered tonnage, actual carrying capacity, material, whether copper, whether side-wheel or propeller, whether iron or copper fastened, size and type of engines and boilers; and should state the price at which they are offered for long or short service, with the estimated value of the vessel, in case of loss, or in case the Government should order to purchase instead of chartering.

Owners of steam vessels already in the service of the Quartermaster's Department are requested to make known to the Department any reduction in their price engraved which they may be willing to grant, and also the price at which they will be willing to sell them.

All such tenders should be addressed to the Quartermaster-General of the United States at Washington, and should be indorsed.

"Proposals for charter or sale of steamers."

When received they will be considered, and the Department will endeavor to reduce the delay of vessels attending army transportation, upon the ocean and tide-waters, by substituting, wherever it can do so, cheaper vessels of equal capacity for those now employed.

UNITED STATES OF COLOMBIA.

Gen. Mosquera Elected Provisional President—The Capital Fixed at Bogota.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PANAMA, Thursday, May 28, 1863.

The British steamer Darien, pioneer of the new opposition line between Liverpool, the West Indies, and Central American ports, arrived at Aspinwall on the 25th inst. By her we have advices from Cartagena to the 24th inst., which, though very meagre, are of importance. No letters from the interior came by this vessel, but I received a short dispatch from a friend at Cartagena, who says:

"The Constitutional Convention has adjourned, having preserved great harmony of action up to the end of the session. The new Constitution was passed, and Gen. MOSQUERA is elected Provisional President.

The bill for the removal of the capital to Panama was not pressed, for fear of a serious division. Capital fixed at Bogota."

Locally there is nothing new. The "Asamblea," of Panama, is still in session, but will probably complete its labors and adjourn within the week. The United States gunboat Connecticut will leave in company with the Northern Light to-day, and convoy her through to New-York, where the Connecticut will receive much needed repairs.

In port at Panama, United States steamship Lancaster, Rear-Admiral BAILY; United States steamship St. Mary's; Her Britannic Majesty's ship Champion, and sloop Tribune.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

PANAMA, Wednesday, May 27.

The steamer Orizaba, with 67 passengers and $1,200,000 in treasure is in from San Francisco. She brings late news from Mexico viâ Acapulco, to the effect that the French have met with another severe defeat at Puebla, and were again repulsed, Gen. COMONFORT, with 18,000 men, having added his forces to the defenders of the place. I give this as a rumor; you may have confirmation of it by way of Havana.

The dates brought by the Guatemala are from Guatemala to the 11th, Salvador to the 16th, Nicaragua to the 17th, and Costa Rica to the 18th inst. The news by this arrival is rather meagre. CARRERA had made no new demonstration against Salvador, but remained quietly at his capital, Guatemala. President BARRIOS, of Salvador, does not seem willing, however, to trust to the future good intentions of his neighbor, as he is still strengthening the defensive works on the frontier, and forwarding tents to his army, in anticipation of the raine which will shortly begin. The dissatisfaction felt at the course pursued by BARRIOS, in lending aid to JUAREZ in his attempt to revolutionize Nicaragua, has very much increased since the total defeat of the revolutionists. JUAREZ had been in La Union, Salvador, but he is reported to have gone to Honduras.

The only news from Costa Rica relates to the inauguration of the new President of that Republic, Señor JESUS JIMENEZ. This event occurred on the 8th instant, and was remarkable, from the fact that it is the first time, with one exception, that a President of Costa Rica has, at the end of his term of office, peaceably retired from the office, and left it in the hands of his constitutional successor.

The British mail steamer Solent, from Greytown, the 16th, arrived at Aspinwall on the 19th. By her we learn that after the defeat and flight of JUAREZ, the Government repossessed itself of all the boats and other property of the Transit Company, and announced its purpose not to restore the contract, or permit the Company to open the route under it. The Government insists that it has good cause for its action, and will not retract. It is reported here that the employes of the Transit Company have not been paid for the last six months, and they are intensely disgusted with the entire management of the concern.

The American Minister, Mr. DICKINSON, is said to have met with a very cold reception, both from the Nicaraguan Government and the Transit people.

The passengers from California by the Moses Taylor had nearly all arrived on the Atlantic side on the 18th, and the America was expected to get to sea with them during the next day. When the Solent left, however, a heavy swell was setting in, and as there are only 11 feet of water on the bar, the America may have been detained two or three days; since she draws 10 or 11 feet, and her exit during a swell might be both difficult and dangerous.

The passengers from New-York per America remained on board that vessel, after her arrival in San Juan harbor, for seven days, but were at last accounts living as best they could on shore, awaiting the opportunity to cross to the Pacific. The only available river steamer was five days in getting 300 passengers down the river, from which some calculation can be made as to how long she will be in taking 600 passengers up. The impression is that the Nicaraguan Government will not again loan the steamers to the Transit Company, and consequently no more passengers can be carried over the route until some new arrangement can be made.

Among the passengers from Nicaragua by the Solent, was Commander BEDFORD PIM, of the British navy. You are aware that this gentleman has entered the lists as a projector of Transit routes. His book, entitled The Gate to the Pacific, is already before the public, and sets forth at length the many wonderful advantages of the new route. His plan is to connect Gorgon Bay, on the Atlantic side, with the port of Realejo, on the Pacific, by railroad. Gorgon Bay is about thirty miles north of San Juan del Norte. Surveyors are now examining the line of the proposed road, the length of which, according to Mr. PIM's book, will be about 325 miles—grading easy and expense trifling. The Commander is sanguine about the success of his project, and, like the famous BELLY, calculates upon astonishing the world, but more particularly England and the United States, with an exhibit of the great political, commercial, financial and other advantages of his route. In his work he has set forth some of these many advantages at considerable length. Of course, in such a work there were many opportunities to abuse the American people, and Mr. PIM did not miss them. He is particularly severe upon the Americans for building the Panama Railroad—for occupying the Nicaragua Transit so long—for attempting to occupy it again—for reporting less water at Realejo than he hopes to find there—for doing many things that the British people or Government did not deem advisable to do, and for indicating that people and Government to do some things that he don't consider it expedient for them to do—as, for instance, minding their own business, and declining to meddle further in American affairs. He particularly dislikes Yankee confidentiveness, which should, in his opinion, be an exclusively English quality, and he abuses his own Government for permitting such insolent appropriation, on the part of Brother Jonathan, who, the Commander thinks, has ruled England in some matters for a long time.

The gentleman further does not hesitate to call the Americans "a nation of liars," and this in a book which, in all its 500 pages, has scarcely a truthful statement, if we except the copies of public documents embodied in it.

This proposed new railroad line cannot be less than 300 miles in length, and, if we judge of the expense of building it by the cost of other great works undertaken in these sparsely-settled countries, it will require at least thirty million dollars for its construction. Here is a fine chance for some of your overgrown capitalists to dispose of their surplus incomes.

THE KIRTLAND HABEAS CORPUS CASE

The Government's Position Defined.

The questions of law arising in the habeas corpus case of SIDNEY KIRTLAND, of Alabama, arrested by the Provost-Marshal as a spy, were to have been argued before Judge MCCUEN yesterday, but as Ex-Judge SEWARD, counsel for the prisoner, was unable to attend, the argument was postponed to 10 o'clock this morning. The following are the points submitted by S. M. GILBERT, Esq., Deputy Provost-Marshal and counsel for the Government in the case:

1. A state of war exists between the United States and the eleven revolted States.

By the proclamations of the Supreme Executive of the Nation, and by several acts of Congress the inhabitants of the whole of those States (including Alabama) are declared to be in a State of insurrection against the United States, the whole military and naval power of the nation is being excited to suppress that insurrection by force of arms. All intercourse with those States is interdicted. And so far as the rights, duties and obligations of individuals are concerned, the same state of things exists as if the war was being waged with a foreign power.

(See the President's Proclamation of August 16, 1861, and the several acts of Congress providing means for the suppression of the rebellion.)

It may be said that the foregoing propositions concede the nationality of the rebels—it does not—for belligerent purposes only, and in the interests of humanity and civilization the United States Government has recognized the existence of the treasonable assemblage which exercises authority in the rebel States, by exchanging prisoners, recognizing pretended military rank, flags of truce, &c. And to the extent that the Government has gone in recognizing the existing state of things, the judiciary and citizens may properly go, and no further.

That a state of war exists has been judicially determined by the Supreme Court of the United States in the prize cases of the Hiawatha and Crenshaw, condemned as enemy's property in March last.

2. A state of war existing, all the incidents of such a state at once attach. All rights, public and private, of property and persons, are affected, more or less, and become subject to the laws of war.

Nothing is more clearly established as a principle of public law than that, in time of war, intercourse between individuals domiciled in the opposing States is absolutely prohibited.

They are enemies. The attitude of the community determines the condition of the individual; and, while in his own country, a subject or citizen is bound by the action of the controlling authority in it. (See KENT's Commentaries—Sec. III.; vol. 1, p. 67, 8th Ed.)

To surreptitiously pass from the territory of one belligerent into that of another, is in violation of military law; the party offending is subject to arrest and trial by court-martial.

In a civil war growing out of a rebellion, the party so charged can exculpate himself by showing that he fled from the rebel authorities, and was seeking refuge under the Government to which he owed allegiance; but the proof should be addressed to the court-martial or other military authority to which he is subject.

3. In time of war Military Courts are alone competent to try military offences. No civil Court has jurisdiction.*

It is not competent for the civil tribunals, either upon a suit of habeas corpus or otherwise, to inquire into the merits of the case; if it appears by return that the officer making the arrest is authorized by military law to make the arrest, and that the prisoner is actually or constructively a resident of the territory, or has actually entered our territory, then the purpose of the writ is answered; the detention is lawful, and the prisoner must be remanded.

A Court martial is for military purposes as strictly a constitutional tribunal as any civil Court.

A Congress, recognizing the existence of war, and the power of armed, yet military authorities, has passed such a law, intended to mitigate the hardships which the unlimited exercise of this power might impose; it provides that persons arrested by the military authorities may be held until one term of the District Court of the United States for the District in which the prisoners are detained shall have been held; if the Grand Jury finds no bill, prisoner must be brought before the Judge, examined and discharged on taking the oath of allegiance; a person arrested as a spy must be tried by the Military Courts, vide section 1 of the Conscription act.

4. The prisoner at the bar, a citizen of Alabama, resident and citizen of Alabama—a State now at war with the United States. He crossed the lines of the army secretly and without permission; he travelled under an assumed name; he refuses to take the oath of allegiance; he refuses to submit to examination even at the direction of the Judge; all the material facts as stated in the return, are not denied by the traverse, and are proved by his admissions.

He has shown nothing that will entitle him to his discharge.

He must be held, unless it is to be determined that a person can come in disguise from the rebel States, steal through the lines of our army, refuse to take the oath of allegiance, defy the Government, and yet walk at large through our cities.

It is respectfully submitted that, under the established principles of public law, and the acts of Congress, he is a proper subject for confinement by the military authorities, that the suit should be discharged and the prisoner remanded.

A ROMANCE OF THE EMPIRE CITY!

THE SUNDAY DISPATCH

FOR JUNE 7, 1863,

Will contain the Opening Chapters of a thrilling Original Story from Life in this City, entitled

THE SECRET DESTROYER;

OR, THE

FORTUNES OF THE CLEVELANDS.

By Capt. WHEELER, U. S. A.,

Author of "Running the Blockade," (printed in the Sun,) "The Web of Fate," (published in the New-York Ledger,) &c., &c.

This Story is a startling record of the various fortunes and exciting episodes in the lives of the members of a well-known family in the City of New-York. The scenes are from life, and present a series of thrilling pictures of the mysteries and crimes that are too often covered over in this great Metropolis by wealth and seeming respectability. Many of the incidents will be recognized by the intelligent reader, who will thus have a key which will enable him to locate the characters who figure in this exciting revelation. Without going into a full synopsis of the Story, it may not be amiss to say that among the leading characters who figure in this Life-Drama are: AN ORPHAN BOY, who has been robbed of his inheritance by his uncle, and turned into the street to shift for himself; A FULTON MARKET BUTCHER—a rich character; A RICH MERCHANT, who lives on Fifth-avenue in princely style, instead of being in Sing Sing, where he ought to be if justice had her due; THE WIFE OF THE MERCHANT, who has her own secrets, and has to pay liberally to avoid an awkward exposure; A CLERK WITH AN EASY CONSCIENCE, who is in love with a Banker's daughter, and who is not over particular as to how he gets his wedding outfit; A YOUNG GIRL, who has seen better days, and who bravely meets poverty and suffering in all its phases; A FEMALE VAMPYRE, who makes good use of what she knows, and who does business on decidedly original principles; A LADY WHO LIVES IN A RETIRED NEIGHBORHOOD, and turns an honest penny, &c., &c., &c. The Fortunes and Adventures of the Newsboy and the little girl who befriended him, will excite the deepest interest in the mind of the reader. They are both noble characters, whose misfortunes may well excite our sympathy, and in whose triumphs and successes every noble and generous heart will rejoice. The portraits of the guilty clerk, the vampyre, and their confederates in crime are so vividly portrayed as to leave a lasting impression on the mind. The history of the rich merchant and his fashionable wife cannot fail to arrest attention wherever it is read; and we hazard nothing in saying that this portion of the revelation will be pretty sure to cause a flutter in the fashionable circle in which the principal actors have long been recognized leaders. This powerful original Story was written expressly for the SUNDAY DISPATCH, and we submit it to the public as an evidence of what is in store for those who look to the DISPATCH for their Sunday reading. Other original novelties will rapidly follow this great story of Captain Wheeler's. In order to make room for all the original and interesting matters on hand, we shall issue a triple sheet of TWELVE PAGES this week, making 84 LONG COLUMNS OF MATTER.
